CHAPTER 01

01 Brand

People, ideas and places — brought together until they become an experience. This is who we are, and the idea the whole identity grows from.

01 · BRAND

Who we are

PurpleHat Events is a Hyderabad-based events company. We bring people, ideas and places together — and turn the meeting into an experience people remember.

From a 40-person leadership offsite to a 4,000-delegate congress, the job is the same: make it easy for people to connect. The identity is built to say exactly that — open forms, warm colour, and a dot that marks the moment everything comes together.

> "Events for a more connected tomorrow."

WHAT WE DO

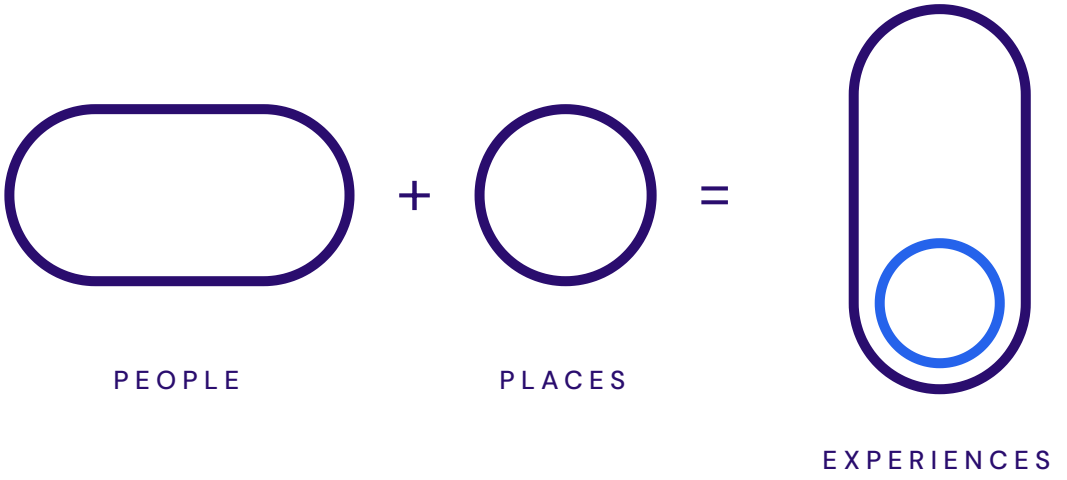

01	Event Management	Concept to curtain call — planning, production and on-ground delivery.
02	Conferences & PCO	Professional Conference Organiser: programme, delegates, abstracts, speakers.
03	MICE	Meetings, incentives, conferences and exhibitions — travel, stay and venues.
04	Corporate Events	Launches, town halls, offsites, award nights and annual days.
05	Experiential Installations	Interactive spaces, immersive rooms and installations people step into.
06	Branding & Design	Event identities, stage design, signage and collateral.
07	Websites & Apps	Event websites, registration flows and companion apps.

01 · BRAND

People + Places = Experiences

The whole identity grows from one simple equation. A pill (people, gathering side by side) plus a circle (a place, a point on the map) makes a pill that holds a circle — the switch that turns a meeting into an experience.

The same open, round-ended line draws the logo, the pattern and every graphic device. Nothing is closed off; there is always room for one more.

In the mark, three dots sit where the lines come to rest — one each for people, places and experiences.

The equation, written in letters.

01 · BRAND

Our words

Five words carry the brand. They appear as a stacked list on badges, posters and stage screens — always in this order, always with a pause between them.

CHAPTER 02

02

Logo

One monoline stroke, three letters, three dots. How the PhE mark is drawn, spaced, coloured — and protected.

02 · LOGO

The PhE mark

P, h and E drawn with a single monoline stroke and rounded ends, resting on three dots. It is friendly at a glance, precise up close, and simple enough to animate, emboss, neon-bend or cut from a single sheet.

- Always use the master artwork — never redraw or retype it.
- The mark can stand alone; the wordmark “PurpleHat Events” is added whenever the audience may not know us yet.
- Primary colour is PurpleHat Violet on Warm White.

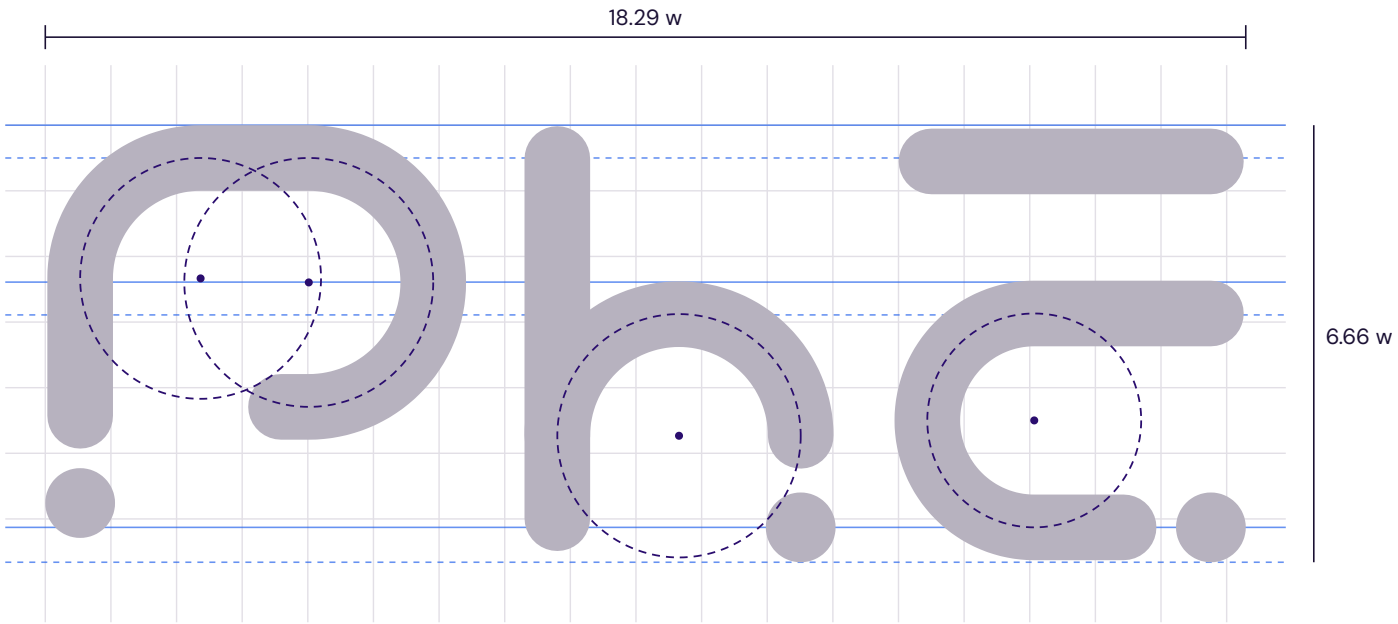

Primary lockup: mark + wordmark, wordmark aligned to the P stem.

02 · LOGO

Construction

One unit drives everything: the stroke width, w. Curves are true arcs, ends are full round caps, and every dot is 1.06 w across — a hair larger than the stroke so it reads as a dot, not a line end.

Stroke	1 w
Dot diameter	1.06 w
Overall	18.29 × 6.66 w
P bowl radius	1.9 w
h arch radius	1.85 w
E bowl radius	1.63 w
Stroke → dot gap	≈ 0.3 w

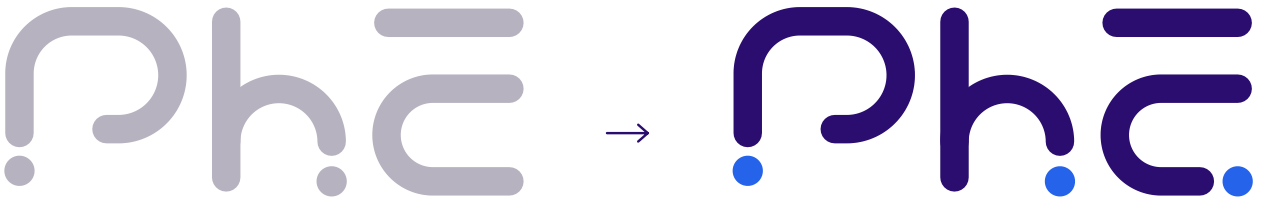

Grid = 1 w squares · blue lines: cap, stroke centre, x-height, dot baseline, foot · dashed circles: construction arcs

02 · LOGO

Why the E has a dot

In the original drawing only the P and the h ended in a dot; the E ran a full bar to the edge. At the client's request the E's bottom bar now stops short and finishes on a dot.

- One rhythm. All three letters now end the same way — stroke, small gap, dot. The gap is 0.3 w under the P and 0.3 w after the E.
- Three dots, three words. People · Places · Experiences — the concept, counted out on the baseline.
- A better ending. The mark now finishes on a dot, like a full stop — and gives motion a third beat.

Before — full bar, two dots

After — bar pulled in, E dot added

The same ending under the P and after the E (gaps highlighted)

02 · LOGO

Clear space & minimum size

Give the mark room to breathe: keep clear space of two dot diameters (2D) on every side — no text, edges or other logos inside it.

Clear space	2 D (≈ 2.1 w)
Mark — print	min. 15 mm wide
Mark — screen	min. 64 px wide

Colourways & backgrounds

Use the mark in one colour — or with the dots picked out in Electric Blue. Choose the version that gives the strongest contrast with the background.

Primary — Violet on Warm White · 13.5:1

Reversed — Warm White on Violet · 13.5:1

Two-tone — Violet, Electric Blue dots · 13.5:1

On blue — White on Electric Blue · 5.2:1

Mono — Black — 1-colour print, fax, emboss · 21.0:1

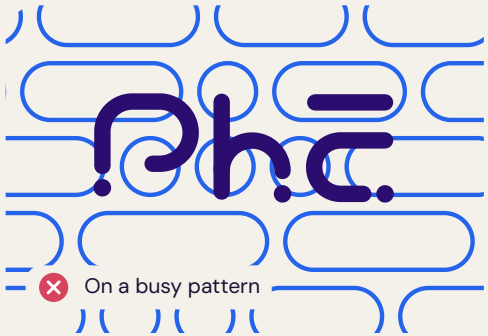

On image — Warm White on purple-graded photo

Violet on blue · 2.9:1

Blue on violet · 2.9:1

Light on mid-tone · 3.3:1

02 · LOGO

Please don’t

The mark only works when it is left exactly as drawn. These are the most common mistakes — all drawn here from the real artwork.

Stretch or squash

Recolour or add gradients

Add shadows, glows or effects

Rotate or set on a slant

Outline the mark

Crowd it — respect clear space

Move, add or remove dots

Retype the wordmark

04 · IDENTITY SYSTEM

Colour

Three colours from the board, plus an ink for text. Lead with Warm White and Violet; use Electric Blue sparingly — it is the spark, not the room.

04 · IDENTITY SYSTEM

Typography

Satoshi — a clean, modern geometric sans with a friendly, approachable tone. Its round letters echo the mark without copying it.

Stand-in notice. The brand typeface is Satoshi (Indian Type Foundry, via Fontshare — free for commercial use under the ITF Free Font Licence; check current terms at fontshare.com). It could not be downloaded in the environment that produced this document, so every specimen here is set in DM Sans, the closest freely available match. All production files must use Satoshi.

04 · IDENTITY SYSTEM

Type scale & usage

A simple scale with a 1.33 ratio. Headlines in Medium with tight tracking, body in Regular, labels in Medium caps with wide tracking — exactly as on the board.

- Sentence case for headlines. CAPS only for short labels.
- Left-aligned, ragged right. Never justify.
- End statements with a full stop — it is the brand's dot.
- System fallback: DM Sans, then Arial.

Sizes in px for screen; for print read as pt × 0.75 (e.g. Body 14 px ≈ 10.5 pt).

04 · IDENTITY SYSTEM

The dot system

The three dots are the most ownable part of the identity. Lifted out of the mark, a dot becomes a bullet, a separator, a status light, a loader and a full stop.

Keep dots perfectly round and solid. One accent dot per composition is in Electric Blue; the rest follow the main colour.

04 · IDENTITY SYSTEM

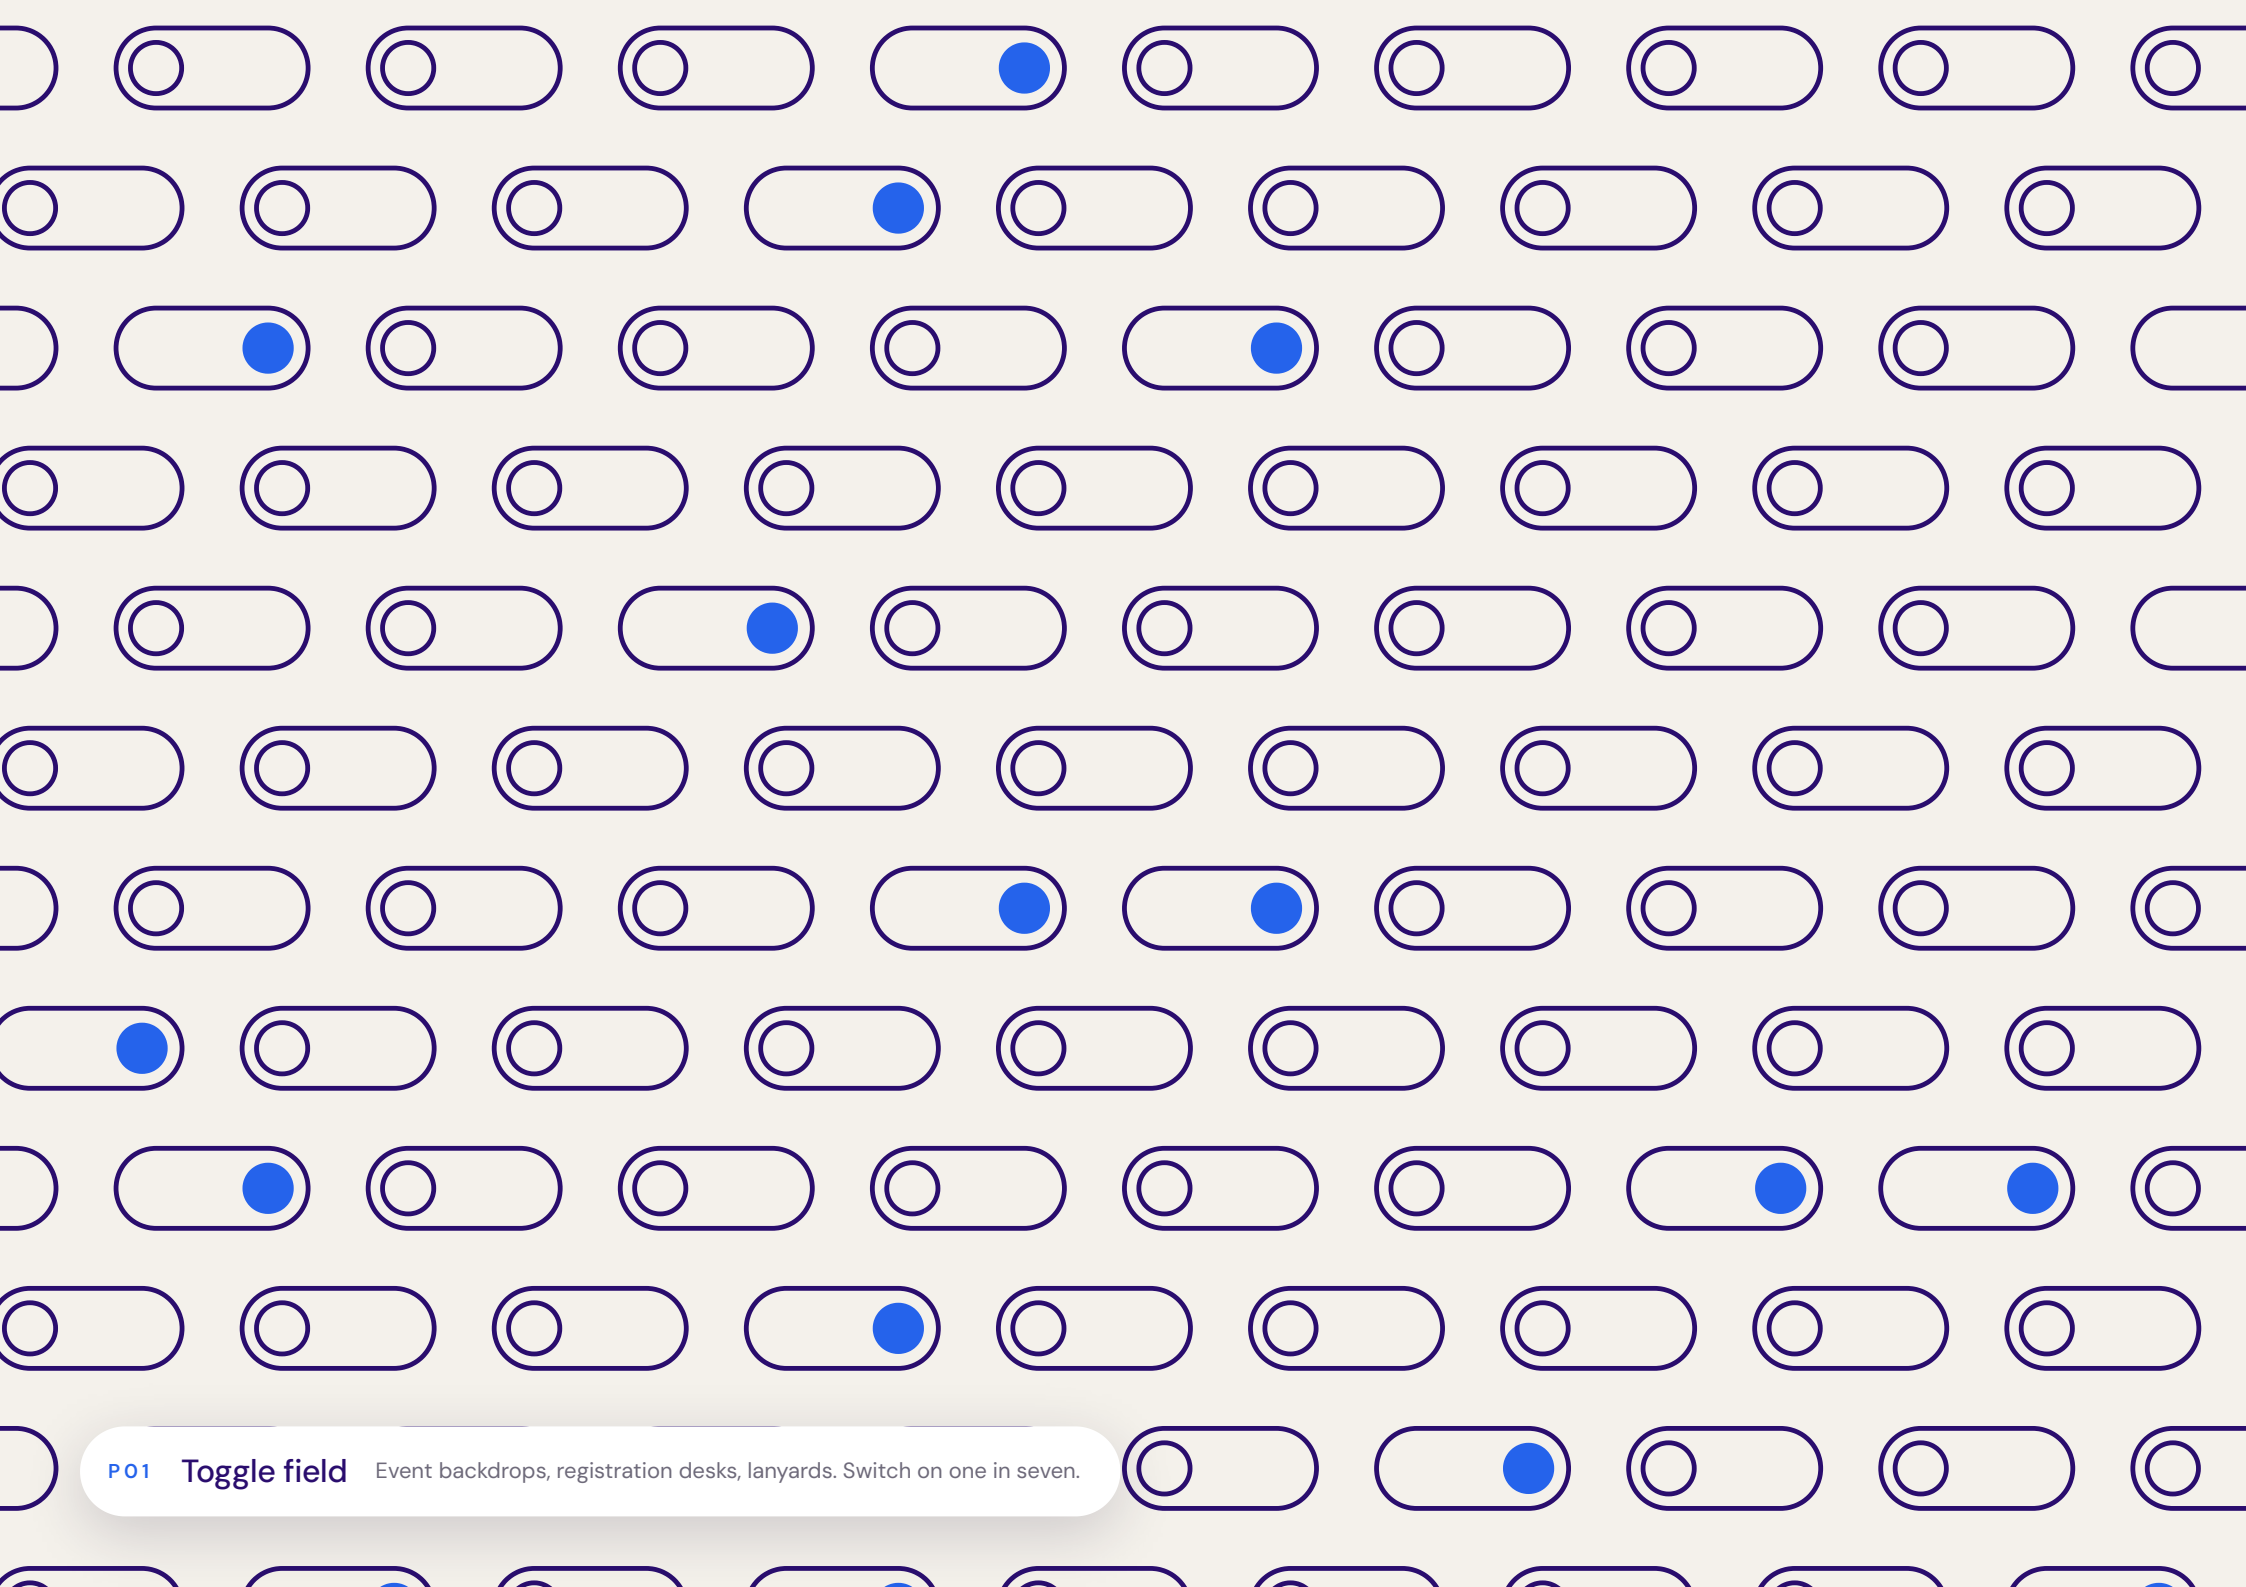

Pattern system

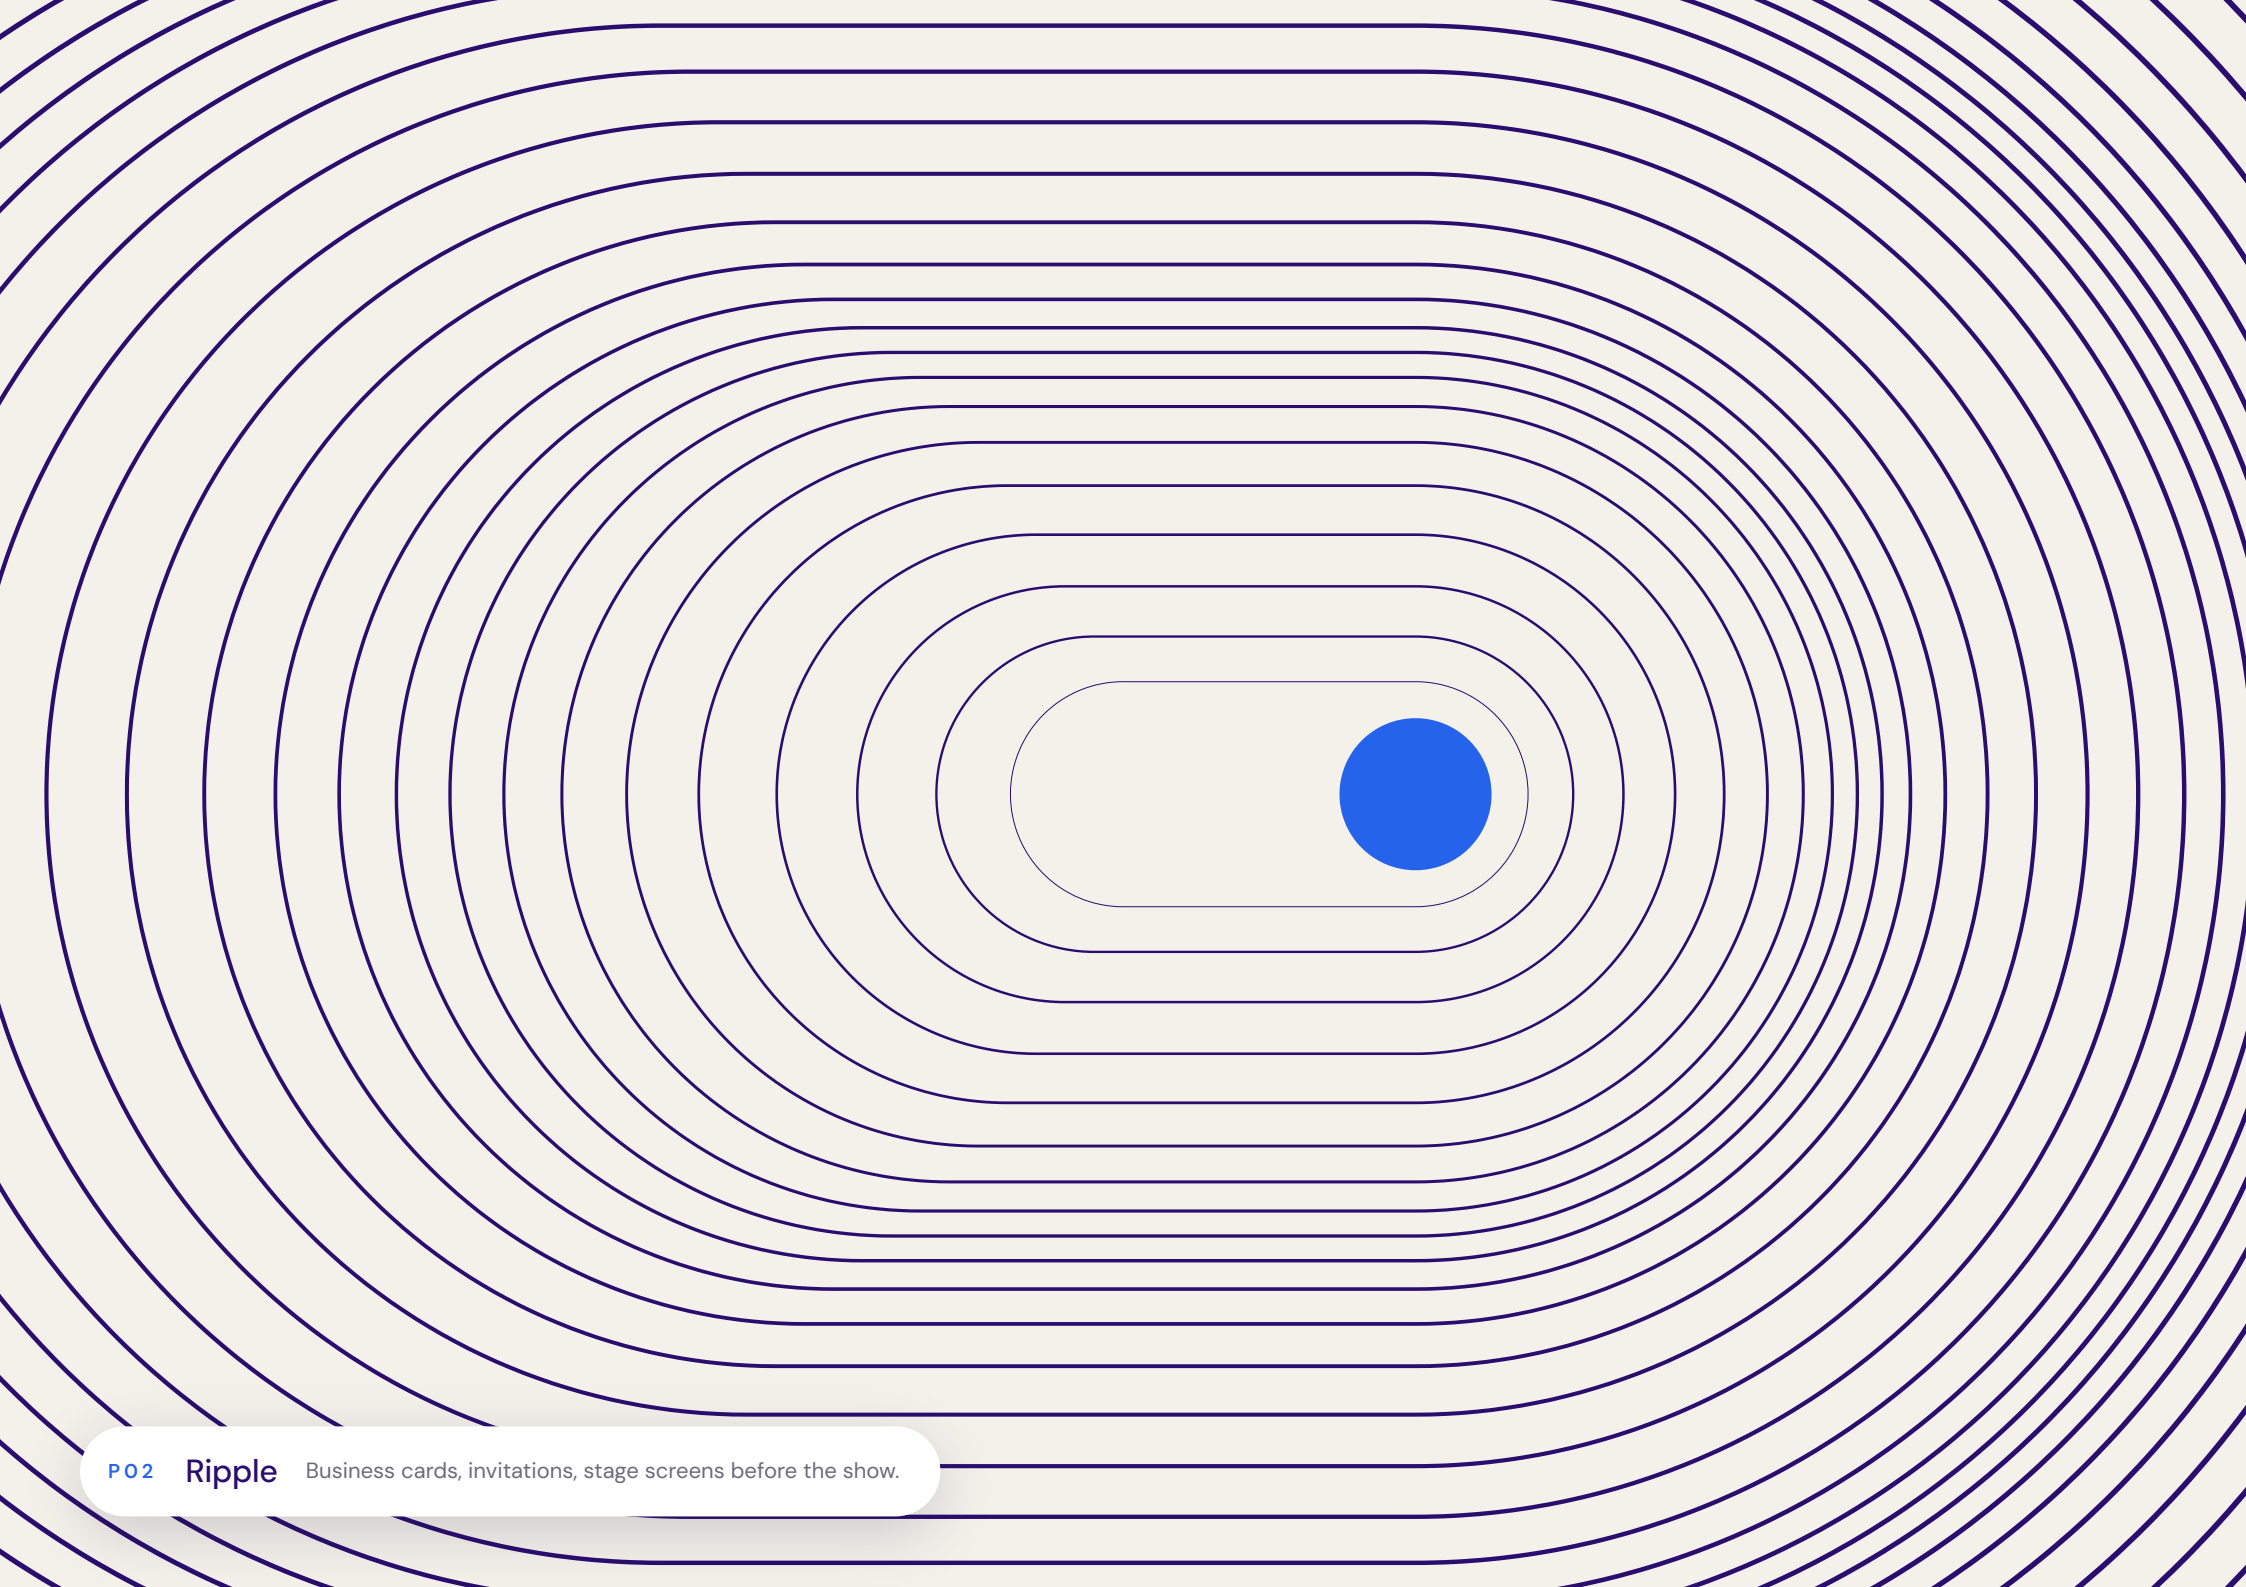

Pills and circles — people and places — set in rows. Patterns are generated from a single module u, so they scale cleanly from a ticket to a stage.

Module	u (circle Ø = pill height)
Pill length	1.8–3.3 u
Gap	0.32 u
Stroke	u ÷ 16 — u ÷ 50
Colours	Blue on Warm · Violet-600 on Violet

- Outline only; fill at most one shape (the accent dot).
- Fade patterns out under text and logos.
- Crop shapes at the edge, never inside.

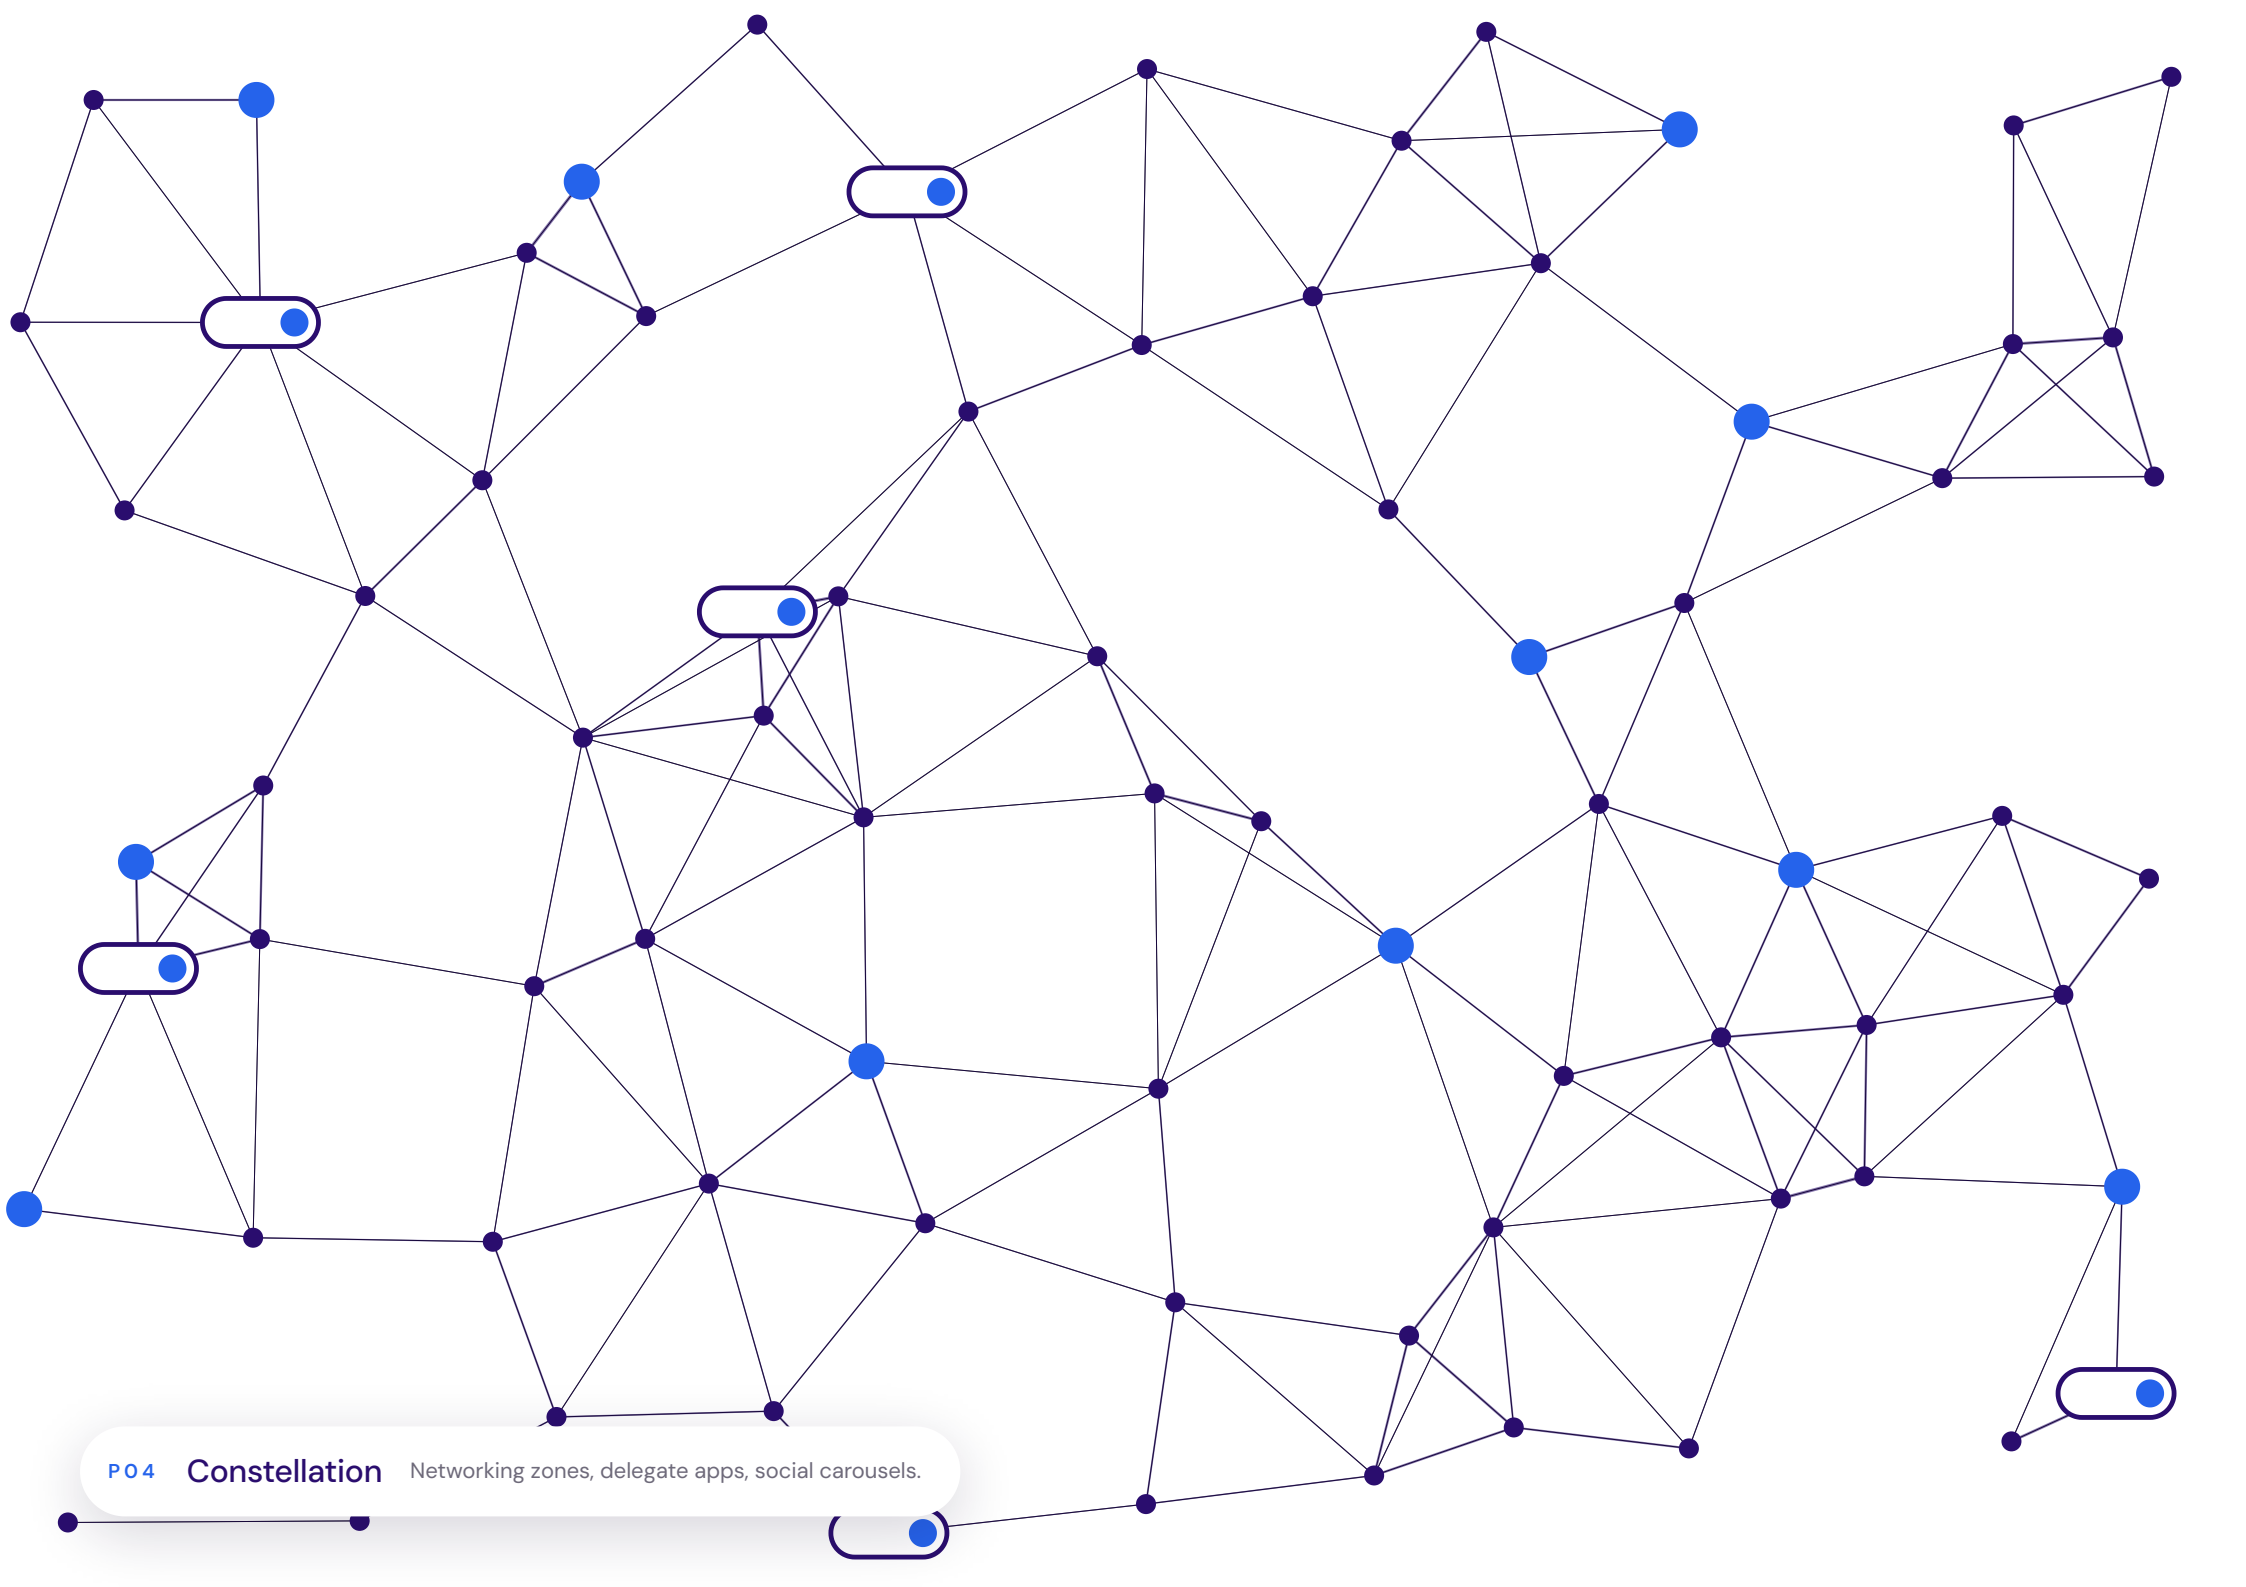

P01 Toggle field Event backdrops, registration desks, lanyards. Switch on one in seven.

P02 Ripple Business cards, invitations, stage screens before the show.

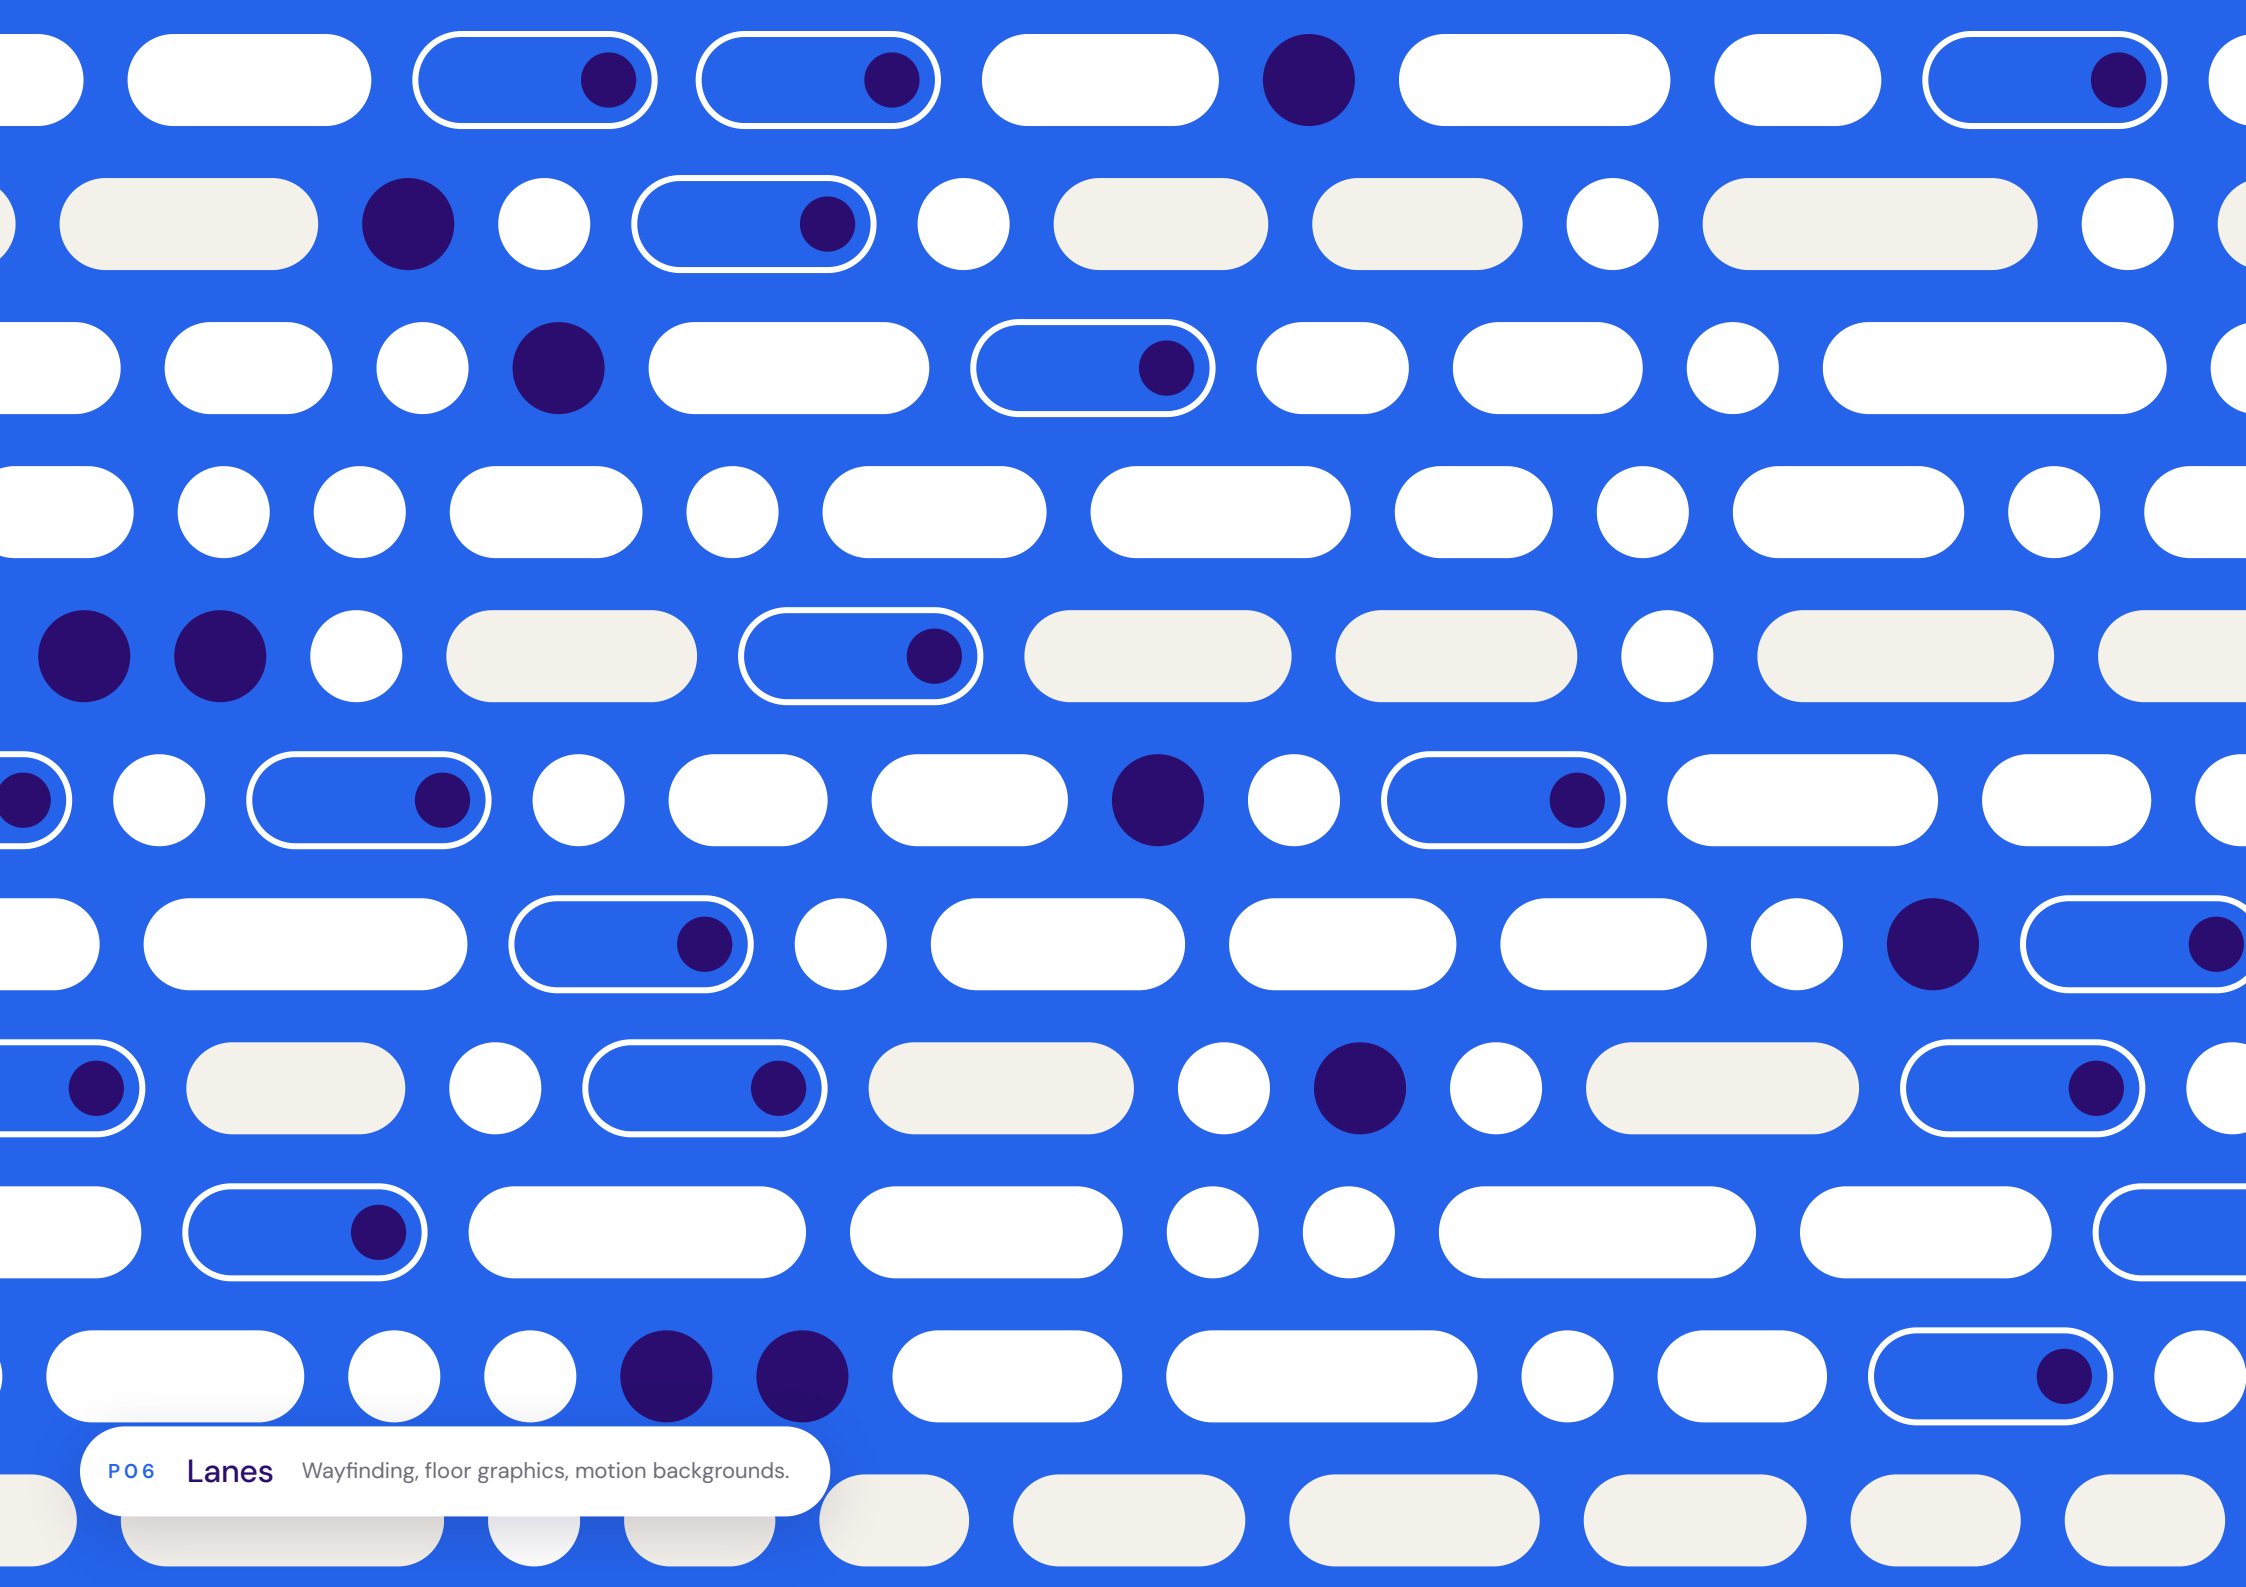

P03 Stroke · gap · dot Ticket stubs, agenda strips, presentation dividers.

P04 Constellation Networking zones, delegate apps, social carousels.

P05 Monogram Merchandise, gift wrap, packaging, step-and-repeat walls.

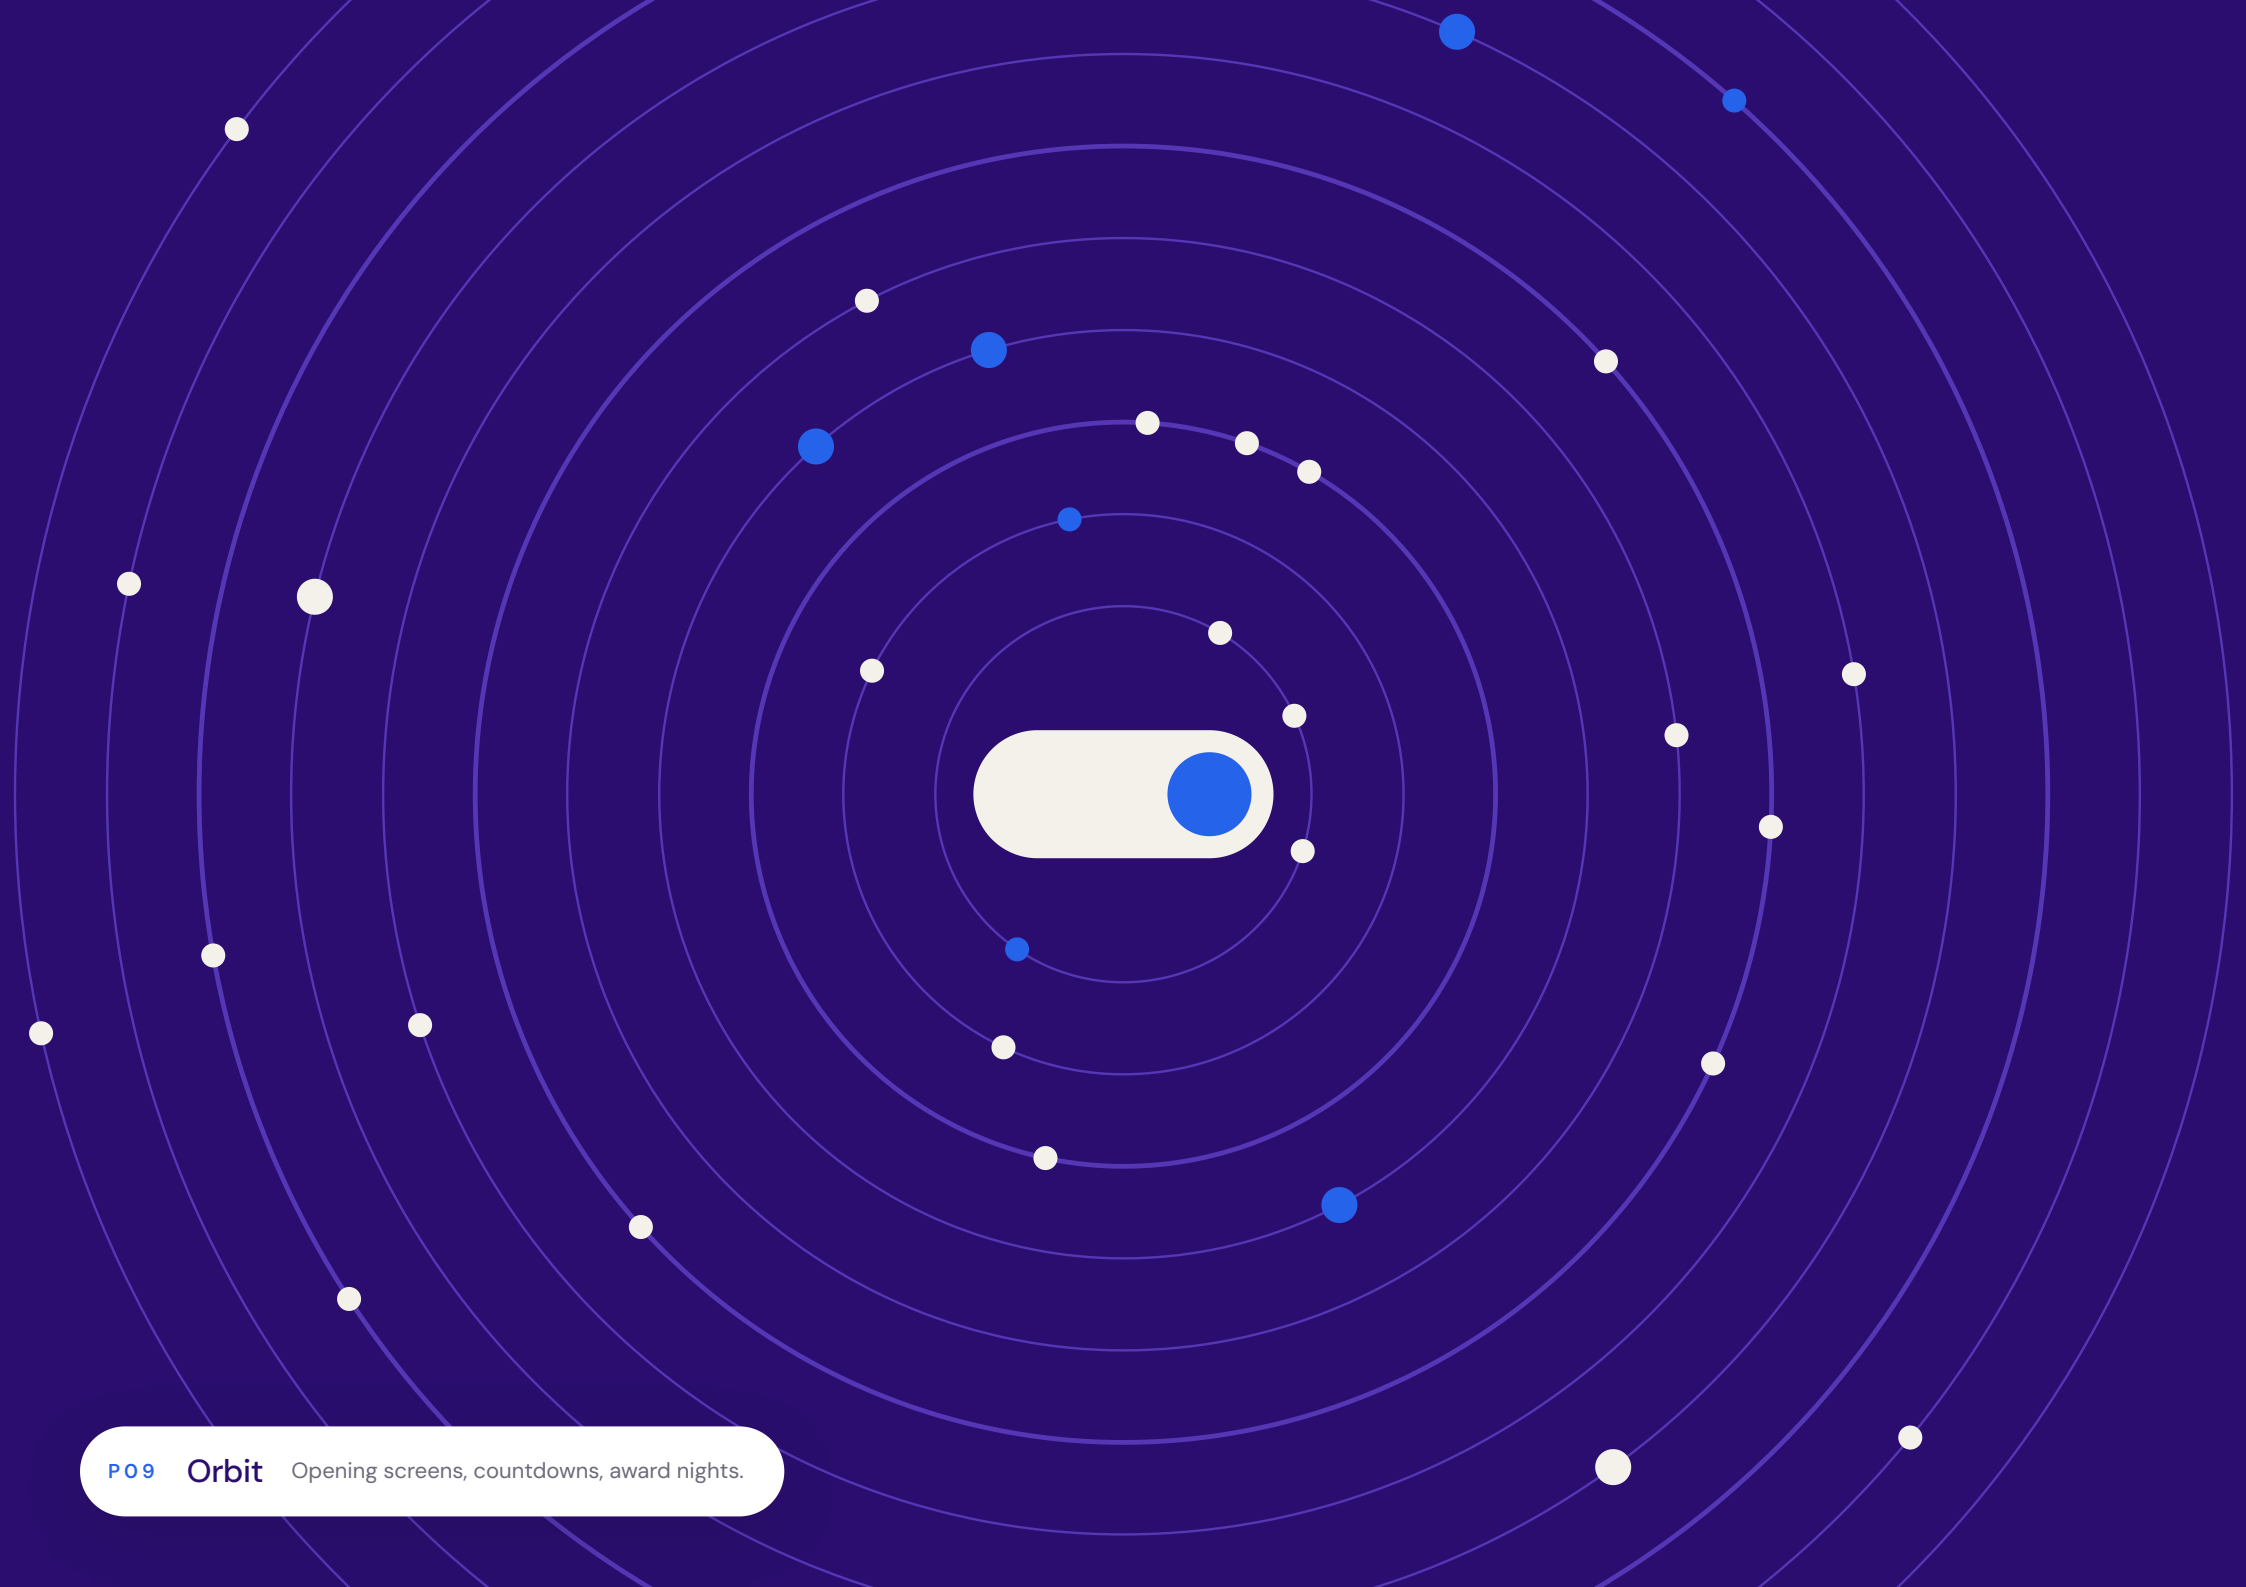

P06 Lanes Wayfinding, floor graphics, motion backgrounds.

P07 Halftone capsule Posters, LED walls, large-format hoardings.

P08 Supergraphic Building wraps, stage fascia, entrance arches, website heroes.

P09 Orbit Opening screens, countdowns, award nights.

04 · IDENTITY SYSTEM

Motion

The dots are the animation device. Letters stay calm and draw on once; dots do the moving — they drop, bounce, pulse and travel.

Live in the HTML version.

Drop

Dots fall onto the baseline, one after another (P → h → E).

Bounce

On landing a dot squashes, rebounds twice, and settles. Never more than two bounces.

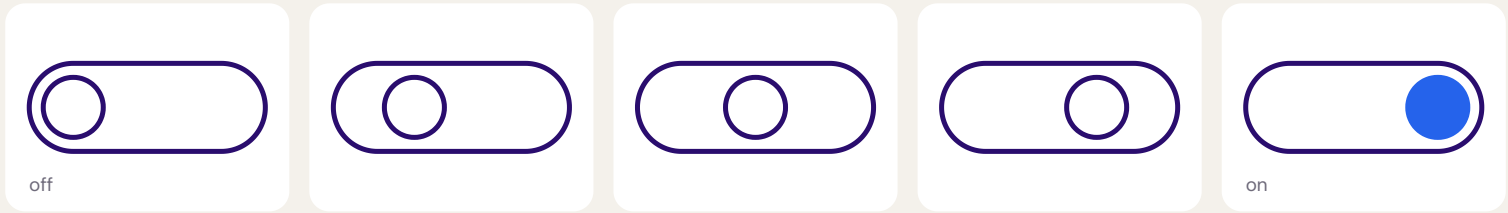

Pulse

A dot breathes 1 → 1.25 → 1 to mark a live moment: recording, “now on stage”, loading.

Travel

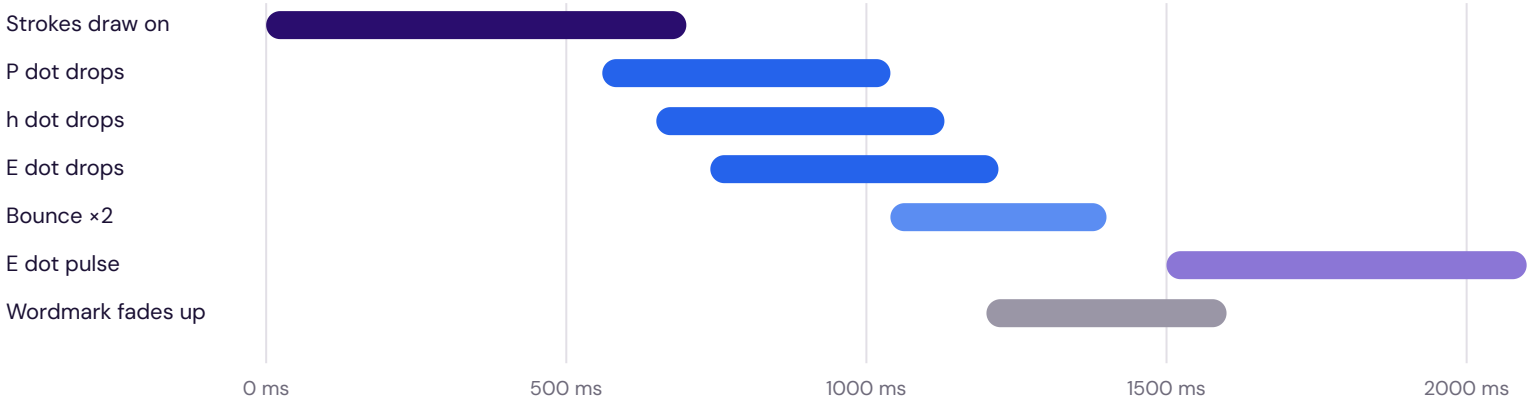

A dot slides through a pill — the experience toggle switching on.

05 · APPLICATIONS

The Signature card

One person, switched on, sending ripples through a room. The card is the brand idea you can hold — made with three inks, one foil and a blue edge.

1. The person
   One Electric Blue dot, switched ON in its toggle: the brand's whole idea at 6.2 mm. Pigment foil matched to Pantone 2727 C.

2. The ripple
   34 capsule contours in Violet (Pantone 2685 C), letterpress. Spacing breathes ±18% on a sine and the field leans back to where the person came from; hairlines thicken from 0.13 to 0.35 mm outward.

3. The place
   The PhE mark rests in a capsule-shaped clearing in the field, letterpress Violet with foil dots.

4. The edge
   Triplex board: 2 × 350 gsm natural white + an Electric Blue core (≈ 1,050 gsm). Every edge shows a line of blue; 2.5 mm die-cut corners.

5. The rhythm
   The rule under the title is the logo's own stroke → gap → dot, at logo proportion.

6. The echo
   A miniature of the brand side, cropped by the corner: the ripple starts here.

89 × 51 mm (also 85 × 55 mm), 3 mm bleed, die line supplied: cards/PhE-BusinessCard-A-Signature-Ripple-*.pdf.

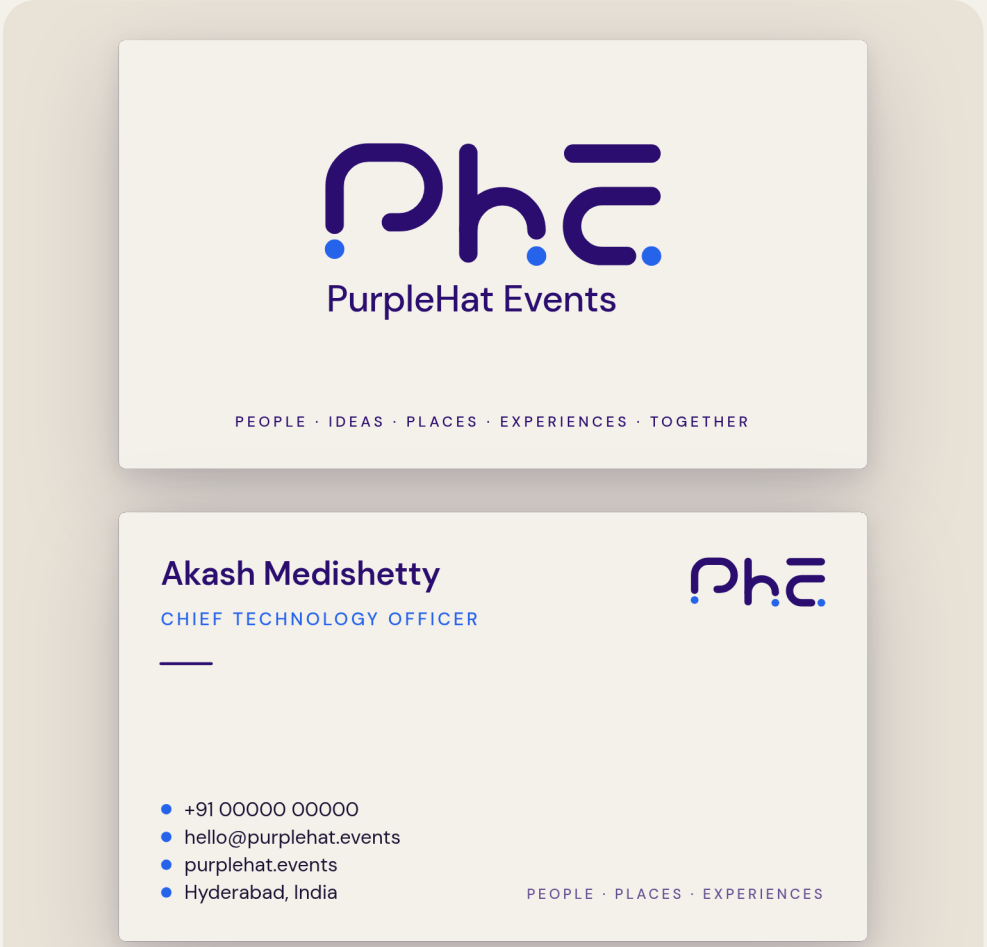

Name, title and contact lines are set from one baseline grid; phone, email and web are placeholders — replace before print.

05 · APPLICATIONS

Alternates

For short runs and quick turnarounds. Same sizes and bleed as the Signature card; B prints on any good uncoated stock, C needs a capsule die-cut.

B — Warm White, blue dots

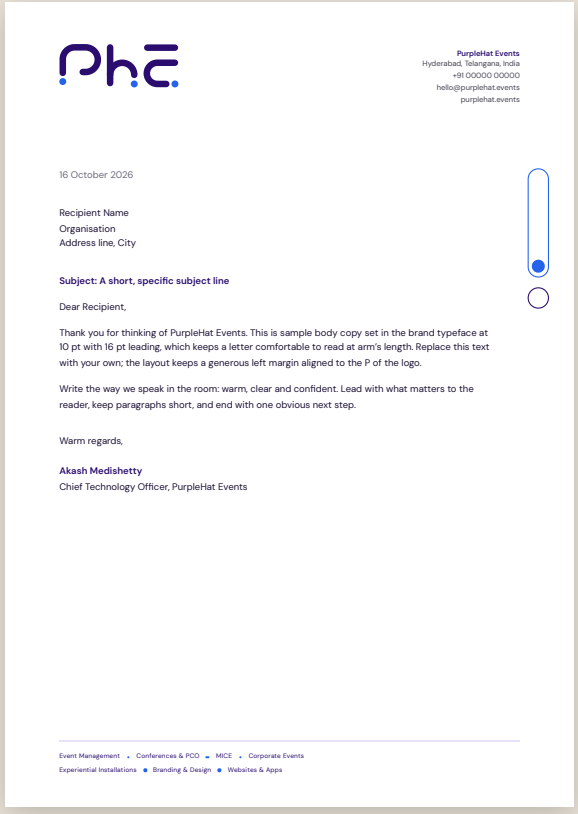

C — Capsule die-cut toggle

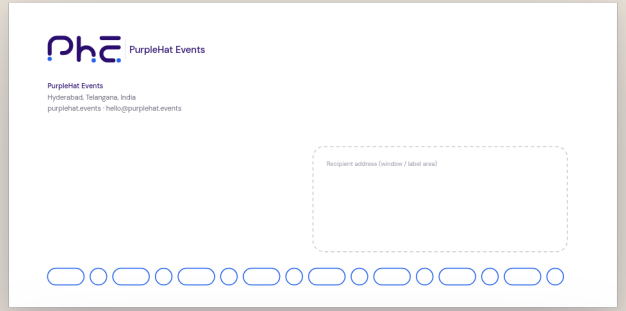

05 · APPLICATIONS

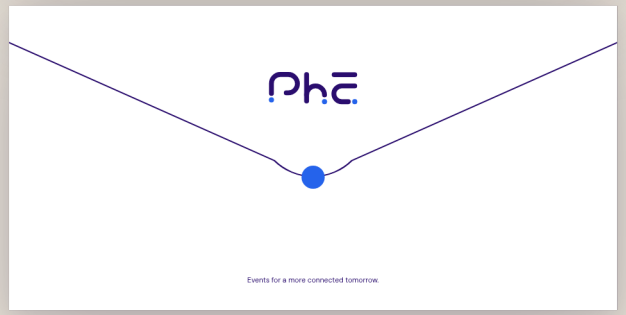

Letterhead, envelope & email

Quiet and useful: the mark top-left, details top-right, and our services as a footer line, separated by blue dots.

Nine templates: 3 × square, 3 × 4:5, 3 × story. Big type, one idea per post, the mark always in a corner.

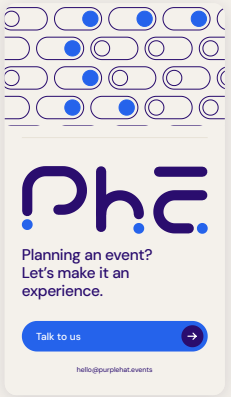

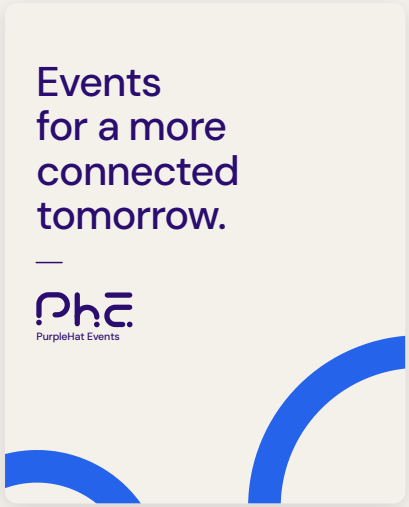

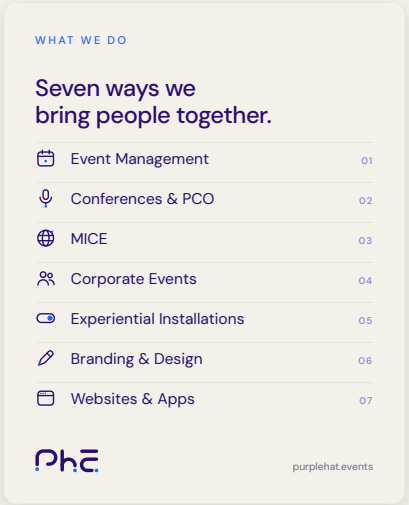

TYPE FIRST

Headlines of 3–6 words in Satoshi Medium, sentence case, ending with a full stop.

ONE ACCENT

One Electric Blue element per post: a dot, a toggle or a button.

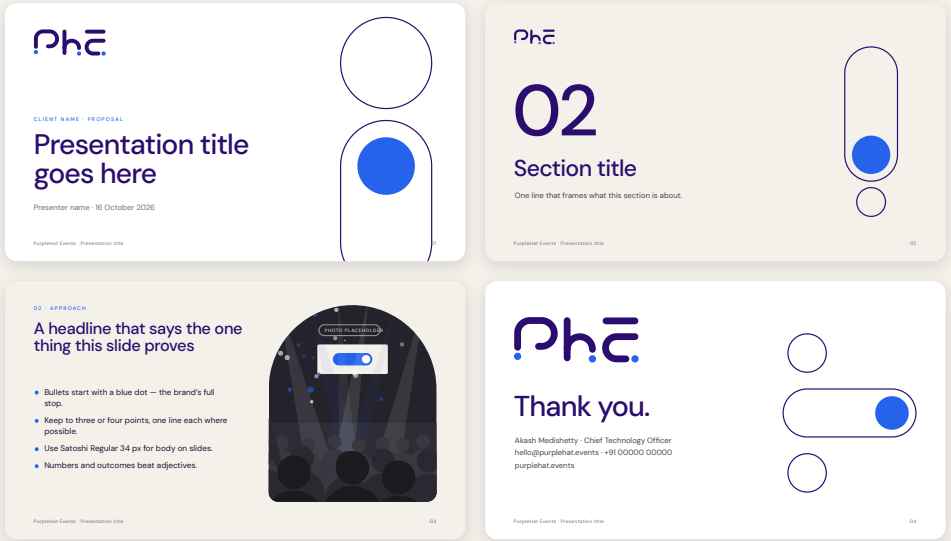

REAL MOMENTS

Graded event photography for recaps; pills and dots for announcements.

Tee back — brand words

Cap — warm-white embroidery

Sticker set — pill, dot, toggle

06 · VOICE

Tone of voice

We sound like a good host: warm, clear and quietly confident. We talk to people, not at “attendees”.

01

Warm, not casual

Friendly and welcoming — but always respectful of people’s time.

02

Clear, not clever

Say the useful thing first: what, when, where, what next.

03

Confident, not loud

Specifics over superlatives. Let the work and the numbers speak.

04

Together, not about us

“You” and “we”, people before process. Credit partners.
