IDENTITY EXPLORATION · OCTOBER 2026

PurpleHat Events

The cap mark in twenty-six versions, thirty new concepts, the thinking behind each one, and the rules that hold them together.

For discussion

THE BRIEF

What we set out to do

Refine the concept

Keep the idea you brought, a cap seen from above, and draw it with real precision.

Make it work everywhere

From a 16-pixel browser tab to an LED wall, embroidered on a cap and printed in one colour.

Give it thinking

Every version has a reason, a rule and a place it belongs. Nothing random.

The seven services it stands for

- Event Management
- Conferences & PCO
- MICE
- Corporate
- Experiential Installations
- Branding & Design
- Websites, Apps & Software

YOUR CONCEPT

A purple cap, seen from above

Three crown panels. The fabric pieces of the cap, all one shape.

The visor. The stiff front piece over the face. It faces right, the way we read: the cap looks forward.

Four seams. Where the pieces are stitched together.

The centre. The top of the cap, where every seam points.

Read as a symbol: a team of pieces made into one thing, with one piece out front leading.

THE JOURNEY

Routes we tried, and why we came back

Route	What we saw	What we kept
Particle stage	An impressive effect, but nothing about it was PurpleHat	Motion must grow out of the mark
Seven lenses	One panel per service made a flower, and the centre grew too big	Seven is a story, not a shape
Seven straight wedges	Read as a wheel or a pie chart, not a cap	Panels stay lenses with curved edges
3D dome with a visor	Clearly a hat, but an illustration rather than a mark	Stay flat and abstract
Split panels, seven seams	Busy; the panels lost their calm	Four seams, nothing added
Four panels, centre closed	The calm of the original, with fuller panels	The master: 02 Core

THE RULES

Five rules behind every version

One shape, four turns

Every panel is the same shape, turned exactly 90°.

Two curves per panel

One arc of the outer circle, one inner arc. No straight edges.

One seam width

All four seams stay equal, whatever else changes.

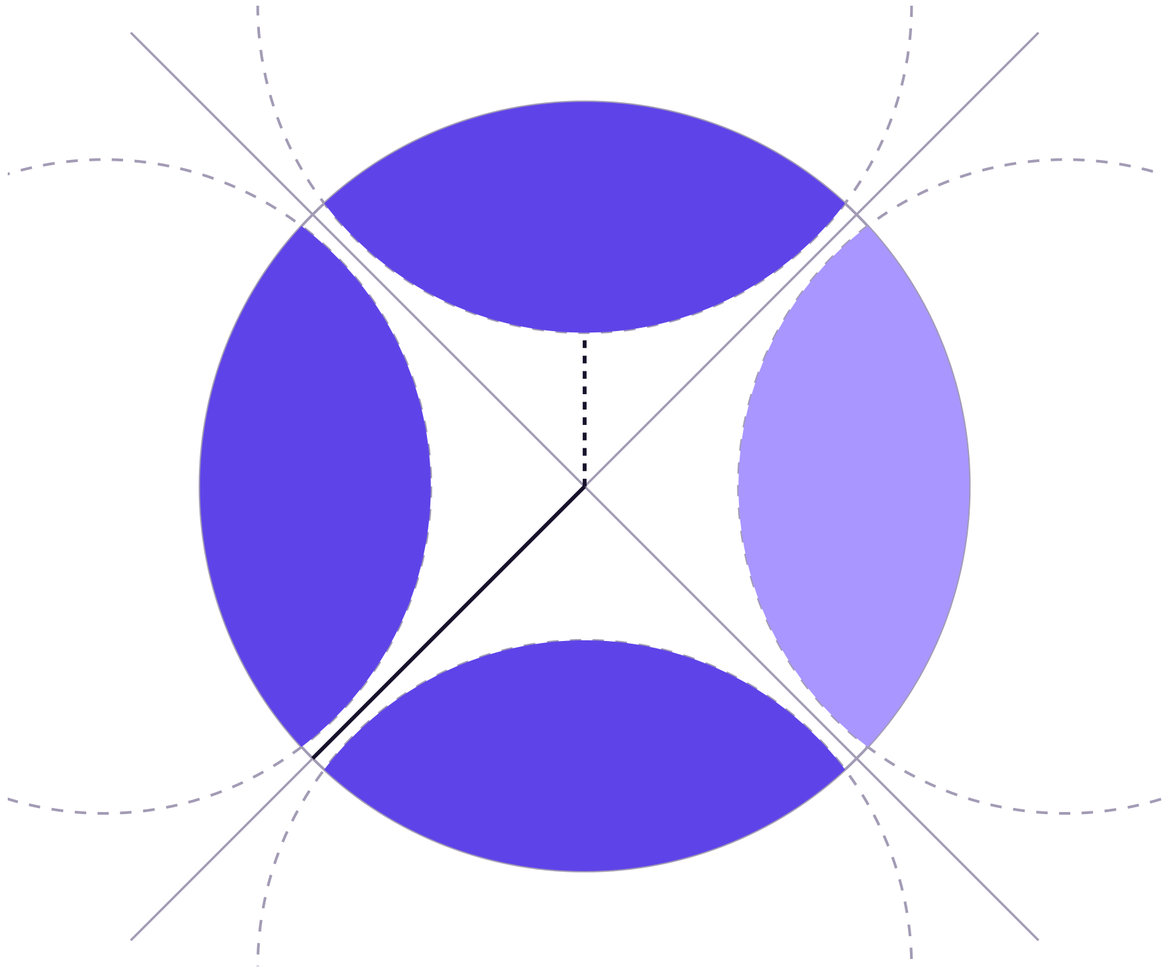

The visor faces forward

Always on the right, the direction of reading. Never rotated.

One accent

Only the visor changes colour. The crown is always one tone.

Each of the 26 versions that follow either keeps all five rules, or breaks one on purpose for a single, named job.

CONSTRUCTION

Whole numbers, on purpose

Part	Value
Outer circle	R 100
Inner arcs, ×4	r 85, 125 out
Centre opening	80
Panel depth	60
Panel tips	42.6° each side
Seam width	6.8, constant
Symmetry	4 × 90°

Anyone can redraw the mark in Illustrator or Figma from this table.

02 · CORE

The master mark

Your concept, with the centre closed from 86 to 80 and the seams held at their original width.

Every other version in this deck starts here.

FAMILY A · GEOMETRY · 01–06

Tuning the master

Same idea, six settings. Small moves in the centre, the seams and the button change its weight and feel.

01 Original

Your concept, rebuilt with true arcs. Centre 86.

02 Core

Centre 80, seams held at 6.8. The master.

03 Fuller

Centre 74. Heavier; more emblem than air.

04 Button

The cap's top button, where the seams point.

05 Fine seam

Seams 4.2 for big sizes: stage, signage, print.

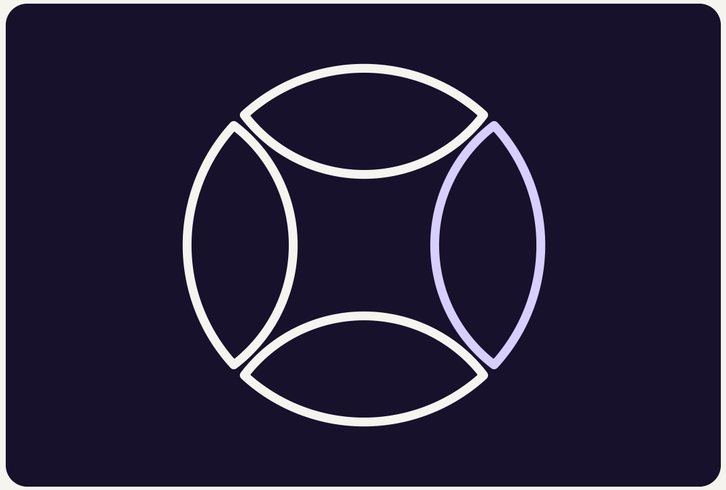

06 Bold seam

Seams 11, so the cut survives at 16 px.

FAMILY B · CRAFT · 07–09

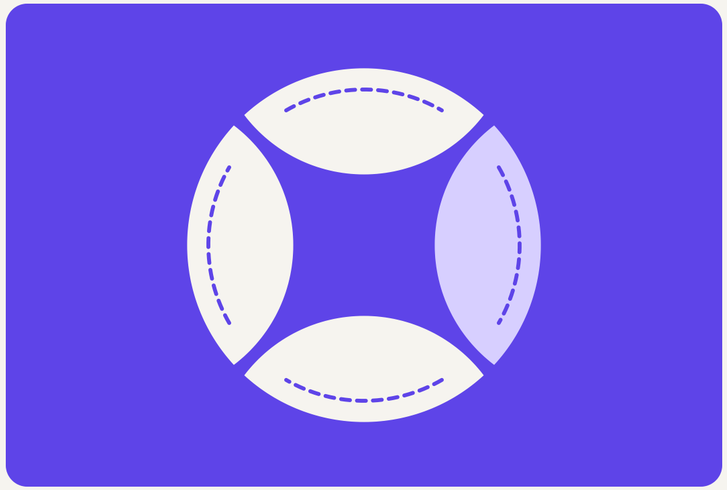

Made to be made

Versions for physical production: light, thread and print.

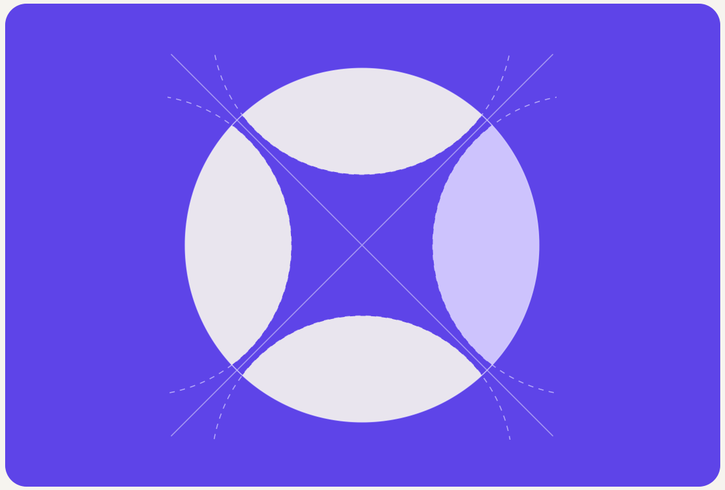

07 Neon

One continuous line per panel. Bends straight into neon tube; also foil and blind emboss.

08 Stitch

A running stitch 12 units in from the rim. For caps, tote bags and staff uniforms.

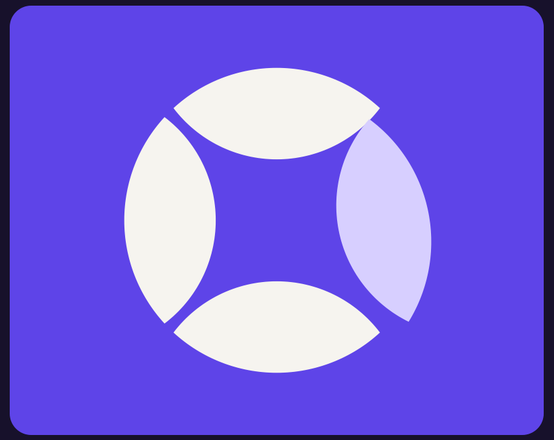

09 Blueprint

The construction lines left visible. For pitch decks, proposals and the website's about page.

FAMILY C · MEANING · 10–13

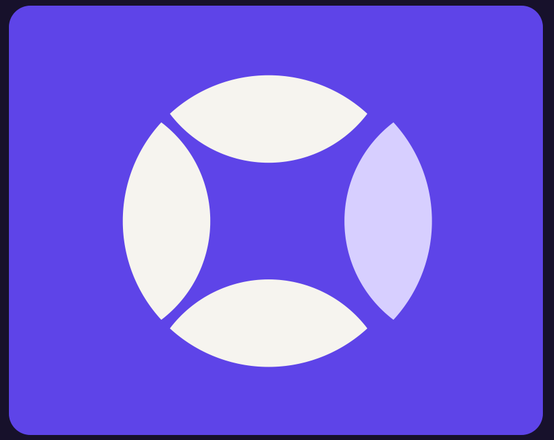

What the visor can say

The visor is the one piece that leads. A small move gives the whole mark a gesture.

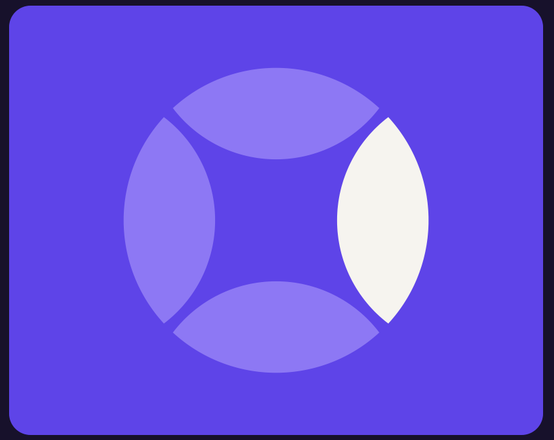

10 Tip of the hat

Visor turned 11°: a greeting. For invitations and welcome screens.

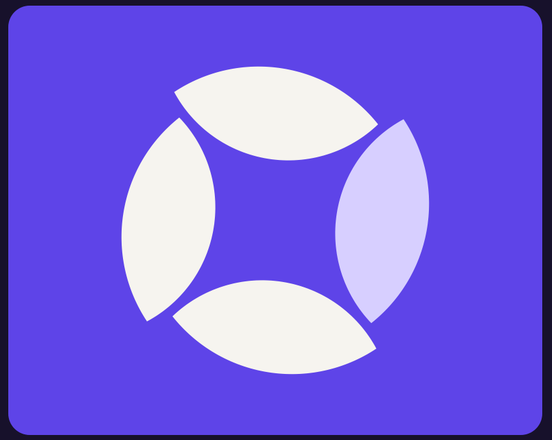

11 Forward

Visor moved out 12 units: momentum. For launches and announcements.

12 Lead

Crown recedes, visor lit: Event Management leads the other services.

13 In motion

Each panel turned 9°: a room coming together. The animation's key frame.

FAMILY D · COLOUR · 14–16

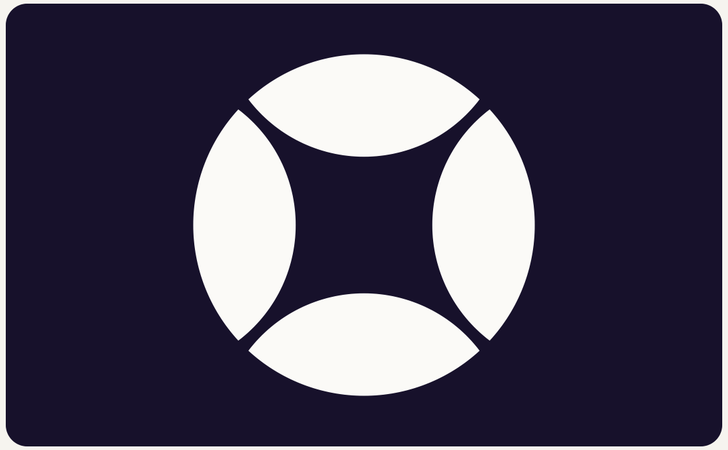

One mark, any surface

The shape carries the idea, so it survives losing its colours.

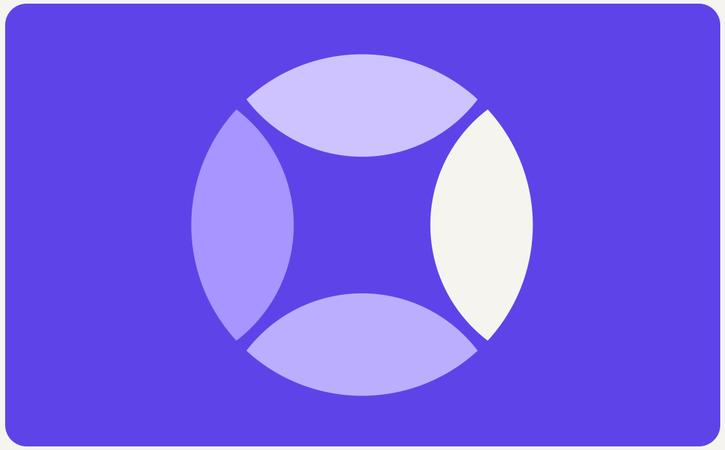

14 One colour

Ink on white. Embroidery, rubber stamps, newspapers, single-colour print.

15 Reversed

White on ink. Dark stages, night events, merchandise on black.

16 Tonal

Three crown tints, visor in white. Breaks the one-tone rule, for large walls only.

FAMILY E · LOCKUPS · 17–19

The mark with its name

The mark stays untouched; the name sits beside it or below it. PHE is the short form.

17 Horizontal lockup

The default. Website header, email signature, documents, invoices.

18 Stacked lockup

For square spaces. Posters, stage backdrops, Instagram posts.

19 PHE lockup

Custom-drawn P, H and E with the mark's weight. Short form for merch and social.

PHE inside the mark

Three ways to put the letters into the cap itself. Each one is for large sizes only.

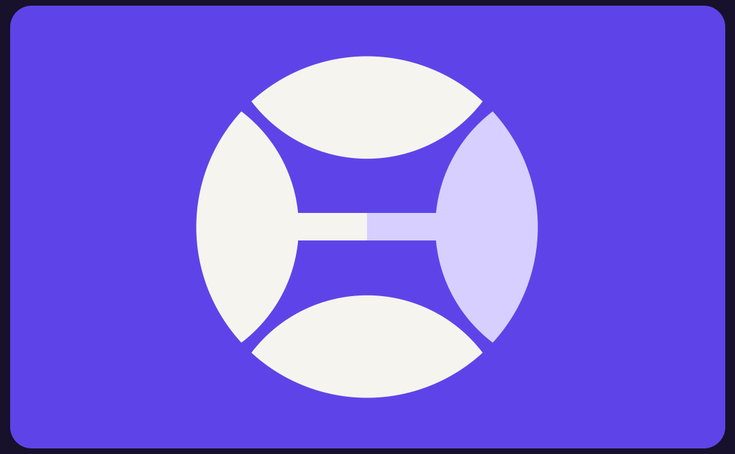

20 PHE seal

Letters held in the centre opening. Badges, wristbands, lanyards.

21 P · H · E across

Back to front across the cap: P in the back panel, H in the centre, E in the visor.

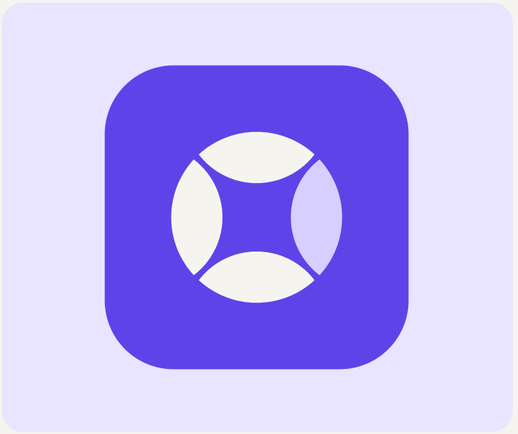

22 Hidden H

Back panel and visor joined across the centre: H for Hat. A detail for those who look.

FAMILY F · SYSTEM · 23–26

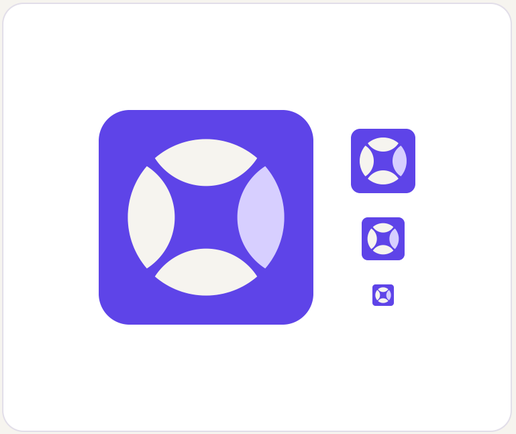

Beyond the logo

Containers, the smallest size, and the mark used as a material.

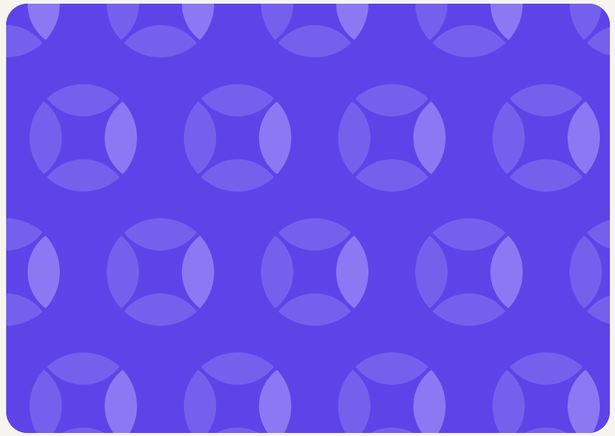

23 App icon

Mark at 72% on a rounded square. Apps, WhatsApp Business, Google profile.

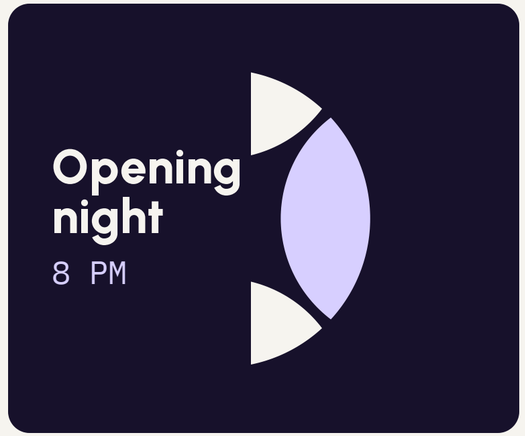

24 Favicon

The bold-seam master at 48, 32 and 16 px. Browser tabs and bookmarks.

25 Pattern

A half-drop repeat in two purples. Wristbands, backdrops, gift wrap.

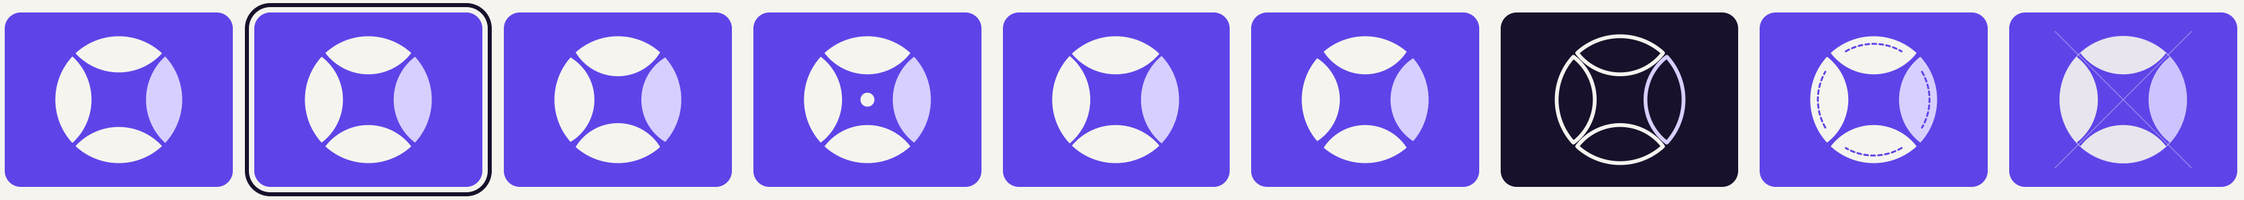

26 Super-graphic

The mark cropped huge off the edge. LED walls, stage screens, social covers.

ALL VERSIONS

Twenty-six versions, one drawing

01 Original · 02 Core · 03 Fuller · 04 Button · 05 Fine · 06 Bold · 07 Neon · 08 Stitch · 09 Blueprint

10 Tip · 11 Forward · 12 Lead · 13 Motion · 14 Mono · 15 Reverse · 16 Tonal · 17 Lockup · 18 Stacked

NEW DIRECTIONS

Thirty professional directions

Alternatives to the cap mark, held to the standard of a corporate identity: real typefaces, pure geometry and no illustration.

W01–W10

Wordmarks

The name is the logo. Ten typefaces, each with one considered detail.

L01–L10

Lettermarks

P, H and E as compact marks for icons, profiles and stamps.

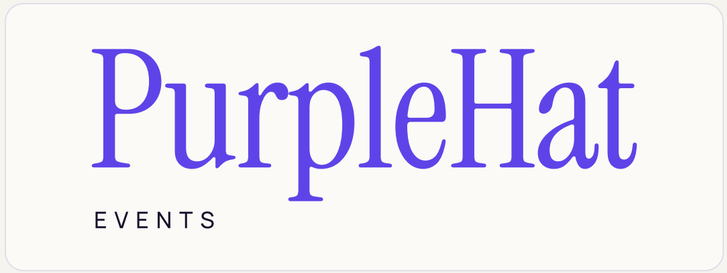

S01–S10

Symbols

A simple shape beside the name, drawn from the hat or the event.

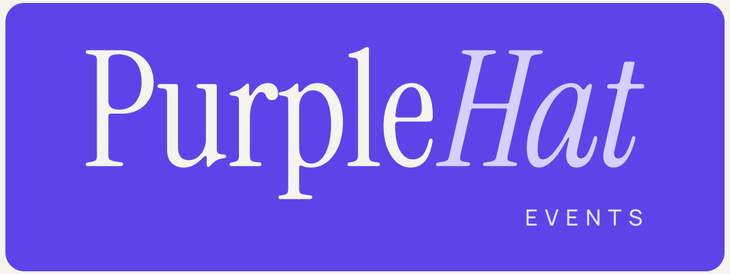

Rules for all thirty: no illustration · real typefaces only · at most three shapes · one accent colour.

The name is the logo

W01 Editorial

Instrument Serif, set tight.

W02 Roman and italic

Hat in italic: one quiet gesture.

W03 Lowercase

Manrope, lowercase, close-set.

W04 Light and bold

Two weights, one name.

W05 Stacked

Inter Tight, stacked, tight leading.

Why wordmarks

Most established firms lead with their name. It is clear, timeless and never needs explaining.

Rule: one typeface, one detail.

Five more voices

PURPLEHAT
EVENTS

W06 Hospitality

Spaced capitals with a hairline.

PURPLEHAT

W07 Extended

Wide and calm, for screens and stages.

PurpleHat
EVENTS

W08 Grotesk

Bricolage: confident, with character.

PURPLEHAT

W09 Gallery

Syne capitals: an arts voice.

PurpleHat
Events

W10 Classic

Cormorant with an italic Events.

Choosing a voice

Hospitality, technology, culture or luxury: the typeface sets the tone before anyone reads a word.

Rule: EVENTS always secondary.

LETTERMARKS · L01–L05

Initials, made into a mark

L01 PH ligature

One stem; the bowl closes on the bar.

L02 Serif monogram

P over H, with a fine gap.

L03 P in a disc

A bold P cut from a solid disc.

L04 Block

PH set into a square, Swiss style.

L05 Stencil

Stencil gaps recall the cap's seams.

Why lettermarks

A compact sign for app icons, social profiles, stamps and embroidery, paired with a wordmark.

Rule: no ornament, ever.

LETTERMARKS · L06–L10

Five more ways to sign

L06 Geometric P

A stem and a half circle.

L07 Italic Ph

Personal, like a signature.

L08 H in a square

Two notches make a square an H.

L09 Seal

PHE in a fine double ring.

L10 Overlay

Overlapping P and H.

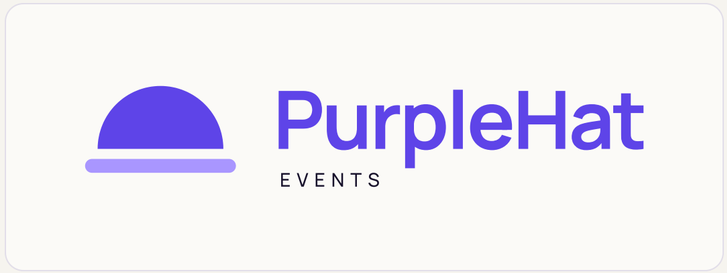

Pairing

Each lettermark is paired with one of the wordmarks: serif with serif, geometric with geometric.

Rule: one weight per mark.

SYMBOLS · S01–S05

A simple shape beside the name

S01 Bowler

A dome over a line: hat, sunrise, venue.

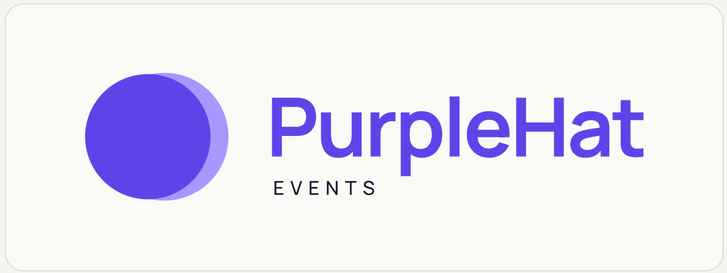

S02 Seams

The cap reduced to its four seams.

S03 Lens

One panel of the cap, alone.

S04 Eclipse

A lavender crescent at the front.

S05 Spotlight

A beam and its pool of light.

Why symbols

A symbol can stand alone on stage screens and merch once people know it. Each is shown with a Manrope wordmark.

Rule: three shapes at most.

SYMBOLS · S06–S10

Five more shapes

S06 Arena

Rings of seats around a stage.

S07 Arch

A doorway: the way in.

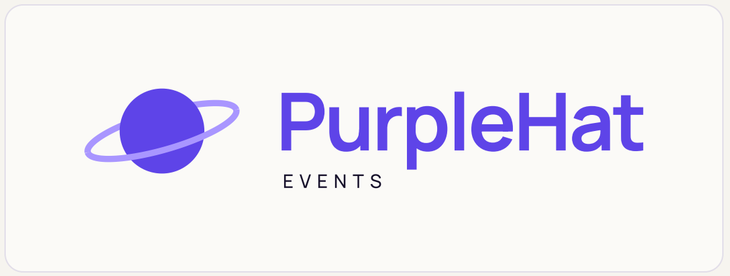

S08 Contour

One line traces a top hat.

S09 Silhouette

A top hat in two rectangles.

S10 Orbit

Each event is its own world.

Restraint

Every symbol is geometry, not a drawing: it stays crisp from a favicon to a stage backdrop.

Rule: one accent shape only.

COLOUR

Four colours, each with one job

Purple

#5E44E8

The ground. Backgrounds, and the crown on white.

Crown

#F6F4EF

The three crown panels. A warm white, never pure white.

Visor

#D7CFFF

The visor only. The single accent in the mark.

Ink

#17112B

Text, the one-colour mark, and dark stages.

Contrast: crown on purple 5.5:1 · visor on purple 4.1:1 · crown on ink 16.5:1. Print values (CMYK, Pantone) to be matched on a proof.

TYPOGRAPHY

Type that shares the circle

PurpleHat

DISPLAY · URBANIST

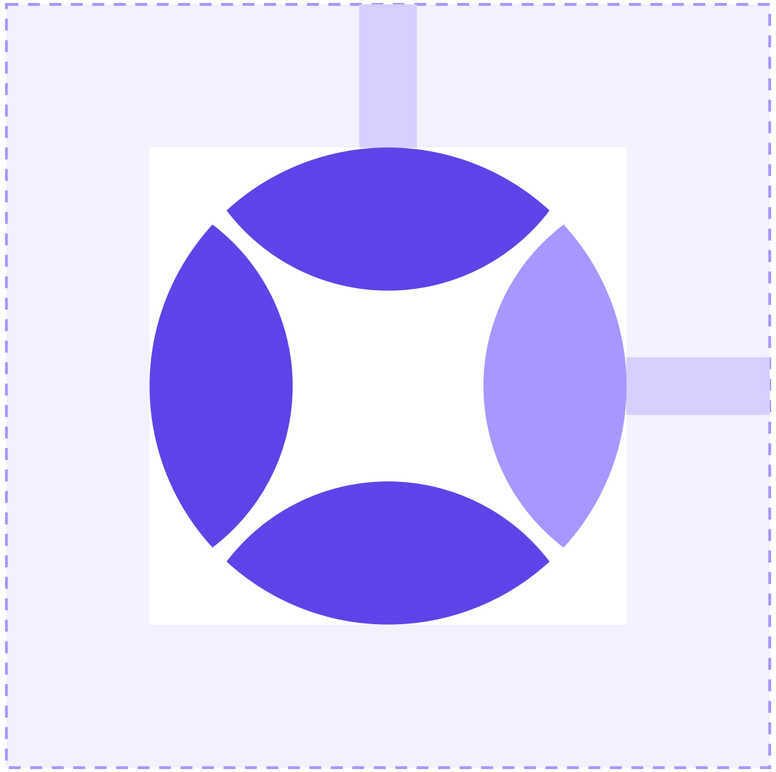

Round bowls that echo the mark. Headlines and the base for a custom wordmark.

TEXT · NUNITO SANS

Warm and easy to read. Proposals, websites, captions.

LABELS · IBM PLEX MONO

Times, dates, halls: 8 PM · HALL 2 · 12.10.26

SPACE AND SIZE

Room to breathe, never too small

Clear space on every side equals one panel depth: 30% of the mark's width, shown by the lavender bars.

Version	Smallest size
02 Core	24 px · 8 mm
06 Bold seam	16 px · 5 mm
17 Horizontal lockup	120 px · 30 mm wide
08 Stitch	40 mm across
20–22 Monograms	48 px · 15 mm

Print and embroidery sizes are starting points; confirm them on a test with your printer and embroiderer.

MISUSE

Six things never to do

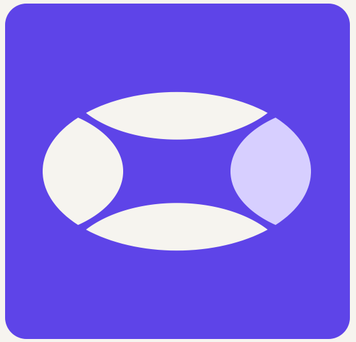

Don't rotate it

The visor always faces right.

Don't recolour

One crown tone, one visor accent.

Don't stretch

Scale it evenly, always.

Don't fade it

Keep strong contrast with the ground.

Don't mix styles

All solid or all line, never both.

Don't add seams

Four seams, always.

IN USE

Where it will live

The cap

08 Stitch on top of a purple cap: the logo, worn the way it was drawn.

Social profile

The round mark fills a circle crop with nothing cut off.

LED wall

26 Super-graphic: the visor glows at the edge of the screen.

Business card

17 Horizontal lockup in purple on the warm white.

OUR RECOMMENDATION

A small system of four

02 Core

The master. Wherever the mark stands alone.

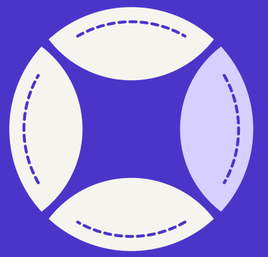

06 Bold seam

Below 32 px: favicons, app badges, tiny icons.

17 Lockup

Whenever the name needs to appear.

08 Stitch

Caps, uniforms and merch.

Plus 13 In motion as the first frame of a three-second logo animation, where the panels settle into place.

FOR THIS MEETING

Seven decisions to make

Decision	Options	Our view
Direction	Cap mark · one of 30 directions	Develop 02 Core and the shortlist side by side
Centre size	86 · 80 · 74	80, the 02 Core
Top button	Without · with	Without; the button on merch only
PHE	Lockup · inside the mark · none	19 PHE lockup as the short form
Wordmark	Urbanist as set · custom-drawn	Custom-drawn, based on Urbanist
Purple	Keep #5E44E8 · adjust	Keep; confirm on screen and on a print proof
Gesture	Tip · Forward · Lead · Motion	Motion, for the logo animation

After this meeting: the custom wordmark, the final colour check, an export pack (SVG, PNG, PDF) and the logo animation.
